SENATOR NAMED IN A SCANDAL.

Sullivan of Mississippi Sued for Breach of Promise.

THE CHARGE OF MISS LEETON

SERIOUS ALLEGATIONS AGAINST NATIONAL LEGISLATOR.

The Senator Is From Oxford, a Lawyer and Succeeded Walthall in the United States Senate.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—A suit for $50,000 damages for breach of promise against United States Senator William V. Sullivan of Mississippi was filed in the District of Columbia Supreme Court this afternoon by Mai Lucy Leeton of Oxford, Miss. The plaintiff in her affidavit alleges that she, "an unmarried woman, at the request of the defendant, undertook and promised to marry him, and the defendant undertook and promised to marry the plaintiff, which he without cause or right has refused to do."

The plaintiff claims that she met Senator Sullivan about Oct. 7, 1895, in his law office at Oxford, he being employed to defend her brother-in-law. She claims that he made protestations of affection for her "and began by wiles and artifices to induce the plaintiff to accompany him on a journey to Chattanooga, Tenn." Plaintiff claims she refused to go with him, but allowed him to correspond with her. She was at that time married, but not living with her husband.

Secured a Divorce for Her.

Plaintiff claims that Senator Sullivan promised to procure a divorce for her "and that he would keep her forever with him, and that she should occupy as high a position as any lady in the land."

About Dec. 1, 1895, the plaintiff, at the request of the defendant, went with him to New Orleans. In January, 1896, according to the affidavit filed today, the defendant placed plaintiff in Nelson's Business

WM. V. SULLIVAN.
Democratic Senator from Mississippi.

College at Memphis, Tenn., paying her tuition and board. In May, 1897, he secured a divorce for her.

Lived as Man and Wife.

The affidavit then alleges that May 10 of that year plaintiff and defendant lived together in Alexandria, Va., as Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sutton, he introducing plaintiff as his wife. Later he placed her in the Fauquier Female Institute in Warrenton, Va., as his niece, where she remained from January to June, 1898, the defendant writing her every day and promising her he would marry her in the summer.

During this time plaintiff claims she had an offer of marriage from a young man who lived near her home and asked the defendant to consent to break off their relations. The latter, she claims, urged that she should not marry the young man, but wait and marry him the following summer.

Roomed With Another Woman.

The affidavit also recites that the couple lived together in Washington and that the defendant finally notified plaintiff that he was not financially able to marry her. Also that plaintiff hearing defendant was ill, in June, 1900, came to Washington to see him and found him rooming with a woman whom he had brought from Holly Springs, Miss. She claims that the defendant offered her $1000 to go home and not expose him before said woman. The plaintiff refused to do this and claims that the defendant abused her and left her without money, friends or means to live on.

Senator Sullivan is a lawyer, 40 years old. He is a Democrat, and succeeded Senator Walthall.

SAYS IT IS NOT GRANITE.

Mrs. Emma T. Kieselhorst Complains of a Paving Contract.

A protest against the quality of stone with which Laclede avenue from Jefferson avenue to Old Manchester road is being paved was filed with the Board of Public Improvements Friday morning. The complainant, Mrs. Emma T. Kieslhorst, is represented by Attorney P. A. Griswold. She states that the contractor, although under bond to pave the street with granite, is using some other material, the nature of which is not specified in the complaint.

Street Contractor Varrelman says that the paving material being used on the contract is South Dakota granite of a superior quality and that the only complaint against its use heretofore has come from a syndicate of local contractors who use Missouri granite and desire to prevent the city from enjoying the advantage of competition in its granite supply.

SHE SAW PICTURE OF POLICE TRACER FAHEY.

Wrote to Him About Her Missing Husband and Fahey Has Found Him and the Couple Will Be Reunited.

Twenty-seven years after disappearing from his home in Albany, N. Y., Andrew Cunningham, a veteran of the civil war and man of means, has been found in St. Louis through the Post-Dispatch and the clever detective instinct of James Fahey, boy tracing clerk of the police department.

Now, after a lapse of nearly three decades a period of terrible uncertainty as to the fate of her husband, Mrs. Julia Cunningham of 9 Morton street, Albany, welcomes back the love of her youth as though he had returned from the dead.

A doubt drove Cunningham from his wife. She has waited for the hour to prove a fidelity that has been tested by time and faith. The husband and wife are once more in communication, and in their breasts is the belief that the doubt will no longer overshadow their lives.

The romance of this parting is not more strange than the romance of the discovery. Days and months and years Mrs. Cunningham has never ceased her efforts to find the lost one. Newspapers have been eagerly scanned for a trace of him.

She caught at a straw when in a New York newspaper of recent date she read a republication from the Post-Dispatch of the wonderful record of missing people in St. Louis and how they were located by the tracing department of the police. The picture of James Fahey, one of the tracers, attracted her attention.

Hope burned brightly again. She wrote to the boy and intrusted to him the task of her life-time. Fahey accepted the mission. On the slender clew furnished by the woman he worked when he should have been at rest.

He got trace of the missing man among shoe manufacturers of St. Louis, after learning that Cunningham had adopted this trade for the purpose of burying himself. From house to house, where he had boarded, the young detective followed him until he located Cunningham at 820 North Nineteenth street.

To fasten the identity of the long-lost man beyond a doubt he talked to all the women with whom he had boarded and got enough of his life story by patching together scraps of personal things which Cunningham had let drop to satisfy himself that he had found the right man.

Then he wrote the joyful tidings. So deftly had he performed his work that Cunningham had no inkling he was found until his wife was fully informed of his whereabouts. There was no escape for him and he bowed to the inevitable.

When Cunningham left his home he was the father of three boys. Today these sons are grown into manhood and hold responsible positions. One is connected with the postoffice department in Albany, another with the Pacific Express Co., and the third, who was too young to remember his father at the time of his disappearance, is a traveling salesman for a large Albany establishment.

When he left his home Cunningham was possessed of a grocery business in Albany and had a comfortable bank account. He took none of these belongings with him, leaving it all for the support and education of his children.

THEY ALL FELL IN THE CREEK

"Tony" Stuever's Guests Received a Ducking.

FARM WAGON OVERTURNED

RUDE INCIDENT OF AN OUTING AT BREESE, ILL.

Heavyweight St. Louisan Plunged Into a Little Ford and Had to Walk Home in the Gloaming.

If the sighing trees and weeping willows that skirt the banks of a little creek near Breese, Ill., had the power of speech they would cease their wailing for a time and tell a funny story. But they are doomed to dumbness and so it is that the tale they might tell comes from South St. Louis.

It is all about how a joke convulsed a park wagon and disturbed the gravity of a party of prominent office holders.

Police Commissioner Anton C. Stuever, being no prophet, except politically, did not know what was going to happen when he invited four of his friends to spend a couple of days as guests on his Illinois farm. The quartette included Julius Wurzburger, Emile G. Remmers, superintendent of the Poor House; William C. Nolte, superintendent of the House of Refuge and Thomas Hause, a saloonkeeper at 2026 South Broadway.

All of them accepted the invitation and the party reached Mr. Stuever's country seat Tuesday morning. Armed with guns and ammunition and fortified with a generous commissary they tramped the fields all day in quest of game and when evening came they made up in large bottles what they lacked in small birds and toasted their host, as became appreciative guests.

The thing happened the next day. Mr. Stuever was up betimes and ordered his man, Jenkins, (maybe that isn't his name) to hitch the handsomest team on the farm to a stylish park wagon. He would show his city friends that a man might be stylish, though a farmer.

They drove over the estate, fished a great deal, caught fish a little, and had a general good time until the evening shadows began to lengthen. The heads of the spanking team were turned homeward.

At dusk they came to the summit of the steep bank of a creek, which it was necessary to ford. On catching sight of the water one of the party suggested that they stop and again try their luck at fishing. Julius Wurzburger, mindful of the needs of the inner man, said:

"O no, fellows, let's go up to the house. It'll be too dark to fish pretty soon, anyhow."

"Well, we got a moon yet, ain't it?" replied another member of the party.

To Mr. Stuever, the only Democrat in the crowd, this was irresistibly funny. He was so overcome with laughter that he loosened his hold on the lines that he might the better hold his mirth-palsied sides.

The horses plunged forward and rushed madly down the bank. The rear wheels of the rig struck a stump and the wagon was overturned. Hause went sailing through the air and landed in the middle of the creek.

One account says the others followed him, but the accepted version is that Stuever, Wurzburger, Remmers and Nolte were merely scattred along the bank in picturesque confusion.

Mr. Stuever's spanking team kept right on after the wagon was overturned and dragged the vehicle into the creek, where it remained at last accounts.

The party gathered itself together and walked home, reflecting on the folly of trying to enjoy a good joke in a gentleman farmer's park wagon.

MRS. NEWCOMB ASKS DIVORCE

Frank Newcomb Is a Well-Known Young St. Louisan.

STUDIED NEGLECT ALLEGED

PLAINTIFF A DAUGHTER OF GEN. DAVID MOORE.

Mrs. Newcomb Alleges Her Husband Failed to Provide for Her and That She Was Forced to Return to Her Mother.

Mrs. Nellie Newcomb filed suit for divorce Thursday from Frank Newcomb, a well-known young St. Louisan. Newcomb has been for years a salesman for local printing houses. His wife comes of a prominent family, being a daughter of the late Gen. David Moore, a distinguished soldier in the Civil war.

They were married in St. Louis, Oct. 24, 1895. According to her petition, Newcomb abandoned his wife last July.

Mrs. Newcomb makes severe charges against her husband in her divorce petition. She alleges that during the last year they lived together he more than once cursed her and told her she had better go home to her mother.

She declares that for the last two years they lived together he refused to accompany anywhere or pay any attention to her or her child, and during 18 months of that time he seldom came home before 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning.

During the six months immediately preceding their separation, he, Mrs. Newcomb states, repeatedly told her he wished to be divorced from her.

But probably the most serious allegation she makes against Newcomb is that for five months imediately prior to their separation he failed to clothe her and their child and that he abandoned them on July 23, allowing the proprietress of the boarding house where they resided to expel them and seize and retain a portion of their clothing for the money due her.

Since then, Mrs. Newcomb explains, she has been living at the home of her mother and is dependent on her for support. She says her husband until four months ago always made from $150 to $200 a month.

She asks the custody of their child, Marian, now aged 3, and also asks for alimony pendents lite.

Judge John M. Wood filed Mrs. Newcomb's petition.

Attorney William H. Boyer, who represents Mr. Newcomb, told the Post-Dispatch Friday that his client is now a resident of Chicago, and, not having seen him since the institution of this suit, could not state what action, if any, Mr. Newcomb would take in the premises.

"MRS. HART" IS TO ESCAPE

She Has Turned Over to the Bank Jewels and Effects Given Her by Defaulter Schreiber.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The Elizabethport Banking Co., from which Wm. Schreiber stole a little over $100,000 in two years, has made a settlement with Mrs. Annie Hart, upon whom much of the money was spent.

By the terms of this settlement Mrs. Hart has made a general assignment to the bank of all of the property of which she was possessed, except the household furniture, her wearing apparel and so much of her jewelry as she can prove was not given to her by Schreiber. The property turned over is valued at $24,000.

In consideration of this assignment the bank has executed to Mrs. Hart a general release of any and all claims it has made against her.

SENATOR VEST HAS "PAIRED"

May Not Remain to Cast His Vote This Year,

HE IS GOING TO NEW YORK

PAIRED WITH A SALINE COUNTY REPUBLICAN.

Again He Declares His Determination to Retire From the Senate at the Close of His Present Term.

United States Senator George Graham Vest told the Post-Dispatch Thursday afternoon that he was "not going to die just yet."

"My health has been improving of late, and I believe I am good to live for some time. I may go to New York in a few days to transact some business I have there and will go from New York to Washington.

"I see something in the papers occasionally about the vigorous efforts Mr. Kerens is said to be making to secure a Republican majority in the Legislature that may send him to the Senate.

"It is difficult for me to believe such stories. Mr. Kerens is a shrewd man. He knows that for a Legislature to elect him or anybody else to the Senate, even if it should contain a Republican majority—something that I regard as almost entirely out of the question—it will be necessary for me to die within the next five months.

"Now, I do not think I will do anything of the kind. At least, I have no desire to do so.

"Who my successor will be when my present term expires, of course I do not know. I have never indicated any preference in the matter and would not consider it the proper thing for me to do, even if I had such a preference. But, as I have said before, I will not be a candidate for re-election.

"The war in the Philippines is not over. It is not natural to suppose that the Filipinos will stop fighting. They are Malays with piratical, predatory instincts bred in them. They are not going to stop fighting. This government will have the same fight on its hands with them it had with the Seminoles in Florida, only on a greatly enlarged scale.

"We fought the Seminoles for eight years, trying to drive them out of Florida, you know, and they are there yet. Our soldiers could shoot one of them when he came out in the open, but could do little when he turned back into the Everglades."

Should the senator be compelled to go to New York on business before election day, he has arranged so that his party will not loso a vote because of his departure.

"I have 'paired' with a prominent Republican of Saline County," he told the Post-Dispatch. "I do not care to tell his name, for the reason that I am not sure he would wish me to. He is an old friend of mine and a leader in his party."

"Pairing" is a familiar custom in the United States Senate, but in Missouri politics it is something of a novelty. The effect of a "pair" is to bar one man from voting unless the gentleman with whom he is paired is also present to vote.

Senator Vest is at the home of his son-in-law, George P. B. Jackson, 1019 Thornby place. He is now 70 years old and appears to be quite feeble. His eye is as bright and his voice as pleasing as of yore and he talks most entertainingly on a large variety of subjects. He is now serving his fourth term as a United States senator from Missouri.

At the time of his last election, in 1897, it was announced that he would not again be a candidate for senator. Several times since then he has confirmed this announcement. Recently rumors spread that he had reconsidered his determination and it was stated he had written to a friend in St. Joseph that he would re-enter the race.

Thursday afternoon Senator Vest stated to the Post-Dispatch most positively that the report was not true and that he would not again be a candidate.

CAPT. KIELY'S DRAGNET

IN THE FOURTH DISTRICT

LANDED MANY QUEER FISH

SPOKEN THROUGH THE BARS.

Because I've been in the pen is no sign I'm a thief. Many an innocent man is punished unjustly. If you don't think so just ask the police.—Ed, alias "Foxy" Reagan.

I wore stripes for killing a negro and it's the best thing that ever happened to make me solid with the gang—Joe Adams.

If Billy Desmond says I've served time all right, but I haven't and he won't say so. That's why I ain't worrying about being arrested now.—Walter Richeson.

Police Captain Mathew Kiely of the Fourth district called his subordinates together Thursday night and after reminding them that the season of the festive footpad and wily burglar was near at hand, said:

"I want every suspicious character found on the streets after dark arrested."

The order bore much fruit. In the police dragnet were captured more than a score of persons, several of whom have "done time" at the Missouri penitentiary.

Humble quarters with a menu of bologna sausage, bread such as mother never made and a plentiful supply of water were furnished them at the Carr street station.

Three Cells Were Full.

Capt. Kiely arrived at his office at 8 o'clock Friday morning.

"Bill," he said, addressing Desk Sergeant William King, "how did we come out last night?"

"Pretty fair," was the reply. "Cells 1, 2 and 3 are filled."

The captain smiled, and pressing the bell that summons the turnkey, entered the holdover.

Among the negroes captured he noticed the following:

Frank Robinson, Joe Robinson, William Renford, Joe Adams, James McDonald, Charles Richeson, Silas Smith, David Moore. The whites included Ed (alias "Foxy") Reagan, James Gallagher and Francis Blake.

Negroes Did Not Worry.

The colored men, seemingly, were not worrying over their unfortunate plight.

"What can they do to us, anyhow?" asked Joe Adams.

"Ah, go on," chimed in Richeson, whose face is a fac simile of the ace of spades, "ain't you got no more sense than to talk now?"

Joe seemed mortally offended and turned his hat down over his eyes, gritted his teeth and hissed:

"Shut up, you niggah."

There was consternation in the darkies' cell when daylight came. One of them observed a picture of William J. Bryan on the wall and remarked that he guessed they were all locked up so they couldn't vote. This idea gained considerable credence, until the captain propounded a few embarrassing questions.

"All I ever did," said Joe Adams, violating the injunction of his companion not to talk, "was to shoot a Lucas avenue roustabout. Well, 'cause I did that I guess the police got it in for me. If Judge Murphy was on the bench I bet I wouldn't be here. He's the cullahd man's friend."

The negroes were arrested by Special Officers Burke, McGrath and Hart. They state that the calm demeanor of the prisoners is due to the fact that they have been in the "booby hatch" before.

Boy Prisoner's Philosophy.

"Here comes Mame; what hev you got, kid?"

"Some sandwiches and coffee," was the answer.

The first speaker was James Gallagher, 17 years old, arrested on a suspicion of highway robbery, and the second his 12-year-old sister.

Joe Rabbitt of 1236 North Seventh street was knocked down and beaten at Sixth and O'Fallon streets shortly before midnight Thursday. The description of his assailant tallied with that of Gallagher and the latter was taken into custody.

"Say, Mame," continued the boy prisoner, "how in the deuce did ma know I was here?"

"O," replied Mame, "a rubberneck up the street squealed on you."

"That's the way," was Gallagher's comment, "always someone trying to knock a poor devil. There's my mother, just as good a mother as any fellow ever had, and the police and others are trying to worry her by saying I'm going wrong. Let me say one thing. I ain't no angel, and perhaps I don't get to Sunday school as often as the catechism says so, but does that make me bad? I never stole anything. When a fellow hasn't the coin to buy beer by the glass and uses the growler the police say he is a hoodlum. No matter what happens you get arrested. That's what I call tough luck."

While Jimmy was speaking a visitor walked up to the cell door.

"Say, pal," he said to the newcomer, "give us a cigarette. I ain't had a blow this morning."

"Foxy" Reagan's Complaint.

"What do the police charge me with now?" anxiously queried "Foxy" Reagan, who has served a term in the penitentiary and broken rocks at the workhouse.

"They'll tell you," he said smiling, "that I'm a well-known thief, and if 40 people was to be murdered in the 'Bloody Third' tomorrow they'd have 'Fox' Reagan as the ringleader of the thing. Honest, I can't walk the streets at no time but what I meet a spieler and then the game 's up.

"Where you going, Fox?' they says. I tell them, and then they march me up to the station.

"Walter Blake was taking a blanket over to a livery stable Thursday night and he asked me to go with him. I did, and we weren't out but 10 minutes when the cops pinched us. Wasn't no use telling them they'd made a mistake.

"Don't you know that because a fellow is badly dressed is no sign he's a criminal? How about these geezers that go about with diamonds on? Why don't the spielers put their mits on them onct in while?"

Reagan is about 28 years of age, and, the police assert, was one of the leaders of the "Skippy" Rohan gang that made their headquarters at the Rookery, that unsavory building, which was once situated at Fifteenth and O'Fallon streets.

SIX BLOCKS OF STREET UPTURNED

—Photographed by the Post-Dispatch.

Because of the scarcity of granite for curbing, it appears that the six blocks from Jefferson to Compton avenues, on Chouteau avenue, now torn up ready to be paved with granite, will remain in a practically impassable condition until next spring.

Contractor George Wright, three weeks ago, after having torn up the street, decided to abandon the job until next spring because other cities which pay more attention to street improvements are using all the granite curbing that can be turned out.

Business men along the torn-up avenue protested to the street commissioner, and were told by Secretary Bischoff that the contractor could not do the work this fall or winter. Property owners said it would depreciate the value of their property and sadly interfere with their trade to leave the street in its present condition for months.

The merchants were assured that some kind of an arrangement would be made whereby the avenue should be temporarily macadamized.

It was not promised that the entire width of the avenue should be macadamized, but that a roadway sufficient for the passage of teams would be laid

COAL STRIKE DECLARED OFF

Men Will Return to Work Monday in Most Mines.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT ISSUED

TIE-UP WILL CONTINUE AGAINST A FEW COLLERIES.

These Are the Ones Which Have Not Agreed to the Terms Proposed at Scranton Convention.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 26.—The anthracite coal strike is practically ended.

By the action of the miner's union officials it has been declared off against all companies which have complied with the strikers' demands and the strike will be continued against those companies which have not granted the Scranton convention's demands. The strikers will return to work Monday at the places where the tie-up is ended.

The mine workers' officials firmly believe that all the operators against whom the strike has not been declared off will concede the miners' demands by Monday.

NOTICE TO THE MINERS.

Statement Issued by the Officers of the Union.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 26.—The following official statement, signed by President Mitchell and the other officers of the miners' union, has been issued:

To the Miners and Mine Workers of the Anthracite Regions: After carefully canvassing the entire strike situation, we, your officers, district and national, have concluded that your victory is so nearly complete that no good end can be conserved by continuing the strike longer. The contest has been in progress for 39 days, and the companies employing you have, with few exceptions, signified their willingness to pay the scale of wages formulated by the Scranton committee of Oct. 12 and 13.

We are aware that some disappointment and dissension has been caused by the failure of the operators in districts 1 and 7 to separate the reduction in the price of powder from the advance in wages, but, after careful inquiry, we are satisfied that each mine employe will actually receive an advance of 10 per cent on the wages formerly paid, in the Schuylkill and Lehigh regions the largest companies have agreed that the sliding scale should be suspended, and that wages should remain stationary at 10 per cent until April 1, 1901, thus removing one of the inequities of which you have complained for many years.

While it is true that you have not secured redress for all your wrongs; while it is true that the increase in your earnings will not fully compensate you for the arduous labor you are compelled to perform, you have established a powerful organization, which, if maintained and conducted on business principles, will enable you to regulate many of your local grievances and make your employment less hazardous and more profitable than before the strike began.

The companies agree in their notices to take up with their mine employes all grievances complained of. We would, therefore, advise that when work is resumed committees be selected by the mine employes, and that they wait upon the superintendents of the companies and present their grievances in an orderly, business-like manner, and ask that they be corrected.

Your attention is respectfully called to the fact that the laws of the State of Pennsylvania provide that miners should be paid semimonthly, upon demand; we should, therefore, advise that each mine employe serve notice upon the companies that he expects to be paid his wages twice each month, as provided by law.

The practical benefits to the miners which accrue from thorough organization have been so clearly demonstrated during this strike that it should be needless for us to urge upon you the necessity of maintaining your union intact. We trust, however, that those who are now members of the union will be unceasing in their efforts to induce all other mine workers to ally themselves with the United Mine Workers of America at once, as it will be impossible for you to secure higher wages in the future, or even to maintain the present rate of wages unless you are prepared to offer a united resistance, if any attempt is made to reduce your earnings upon the expiration of the present offer.

As there are some few companies who have neither posted, notified nor signified in any other manner their willingness to pay the 10 per cent advance in wages and suspend the sliding scale, we would advise that unless the men employed by such companies receive notice before Monday that the advance will be paid, they remain away from the mines and continue on strike until the companies employing them agree to the conditions offered by the companies, and that the employes of the companies who have offered the advance of 10 per cent and abolished the sliding scale are hereby authorized to resume work Monday morning, Oct. 29, and to be prepared, if called on, to contribute a reasonable amount of your earnings for the maintenance of those who may be compelled to continue on strike.

FUTURE COAL PRICES.

Operators Say Strike Settlement Cannot Make It Cheaper Than Now.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Prominent coal dealers think that the settlement of the anthracite coal strike will have little or no depressing effect on the price of coal in the local market. The president of one of the coal companies said:

"The settlement of the strike will have no appreciable effect, I think, except to make those who have stocks more willing to sell. When the strike started the price was $6.25 and it was advanced to $7 chiefly for the purpose of holding back the stocks until the mines resumed. In the meantime the season has advanced sufficiently and the cost of mining and freights have been advanced so as to justify the present price list. It may go back 25 cents, but I can't see how it can sell below $6.75 at this season."

APPEALING TO POSTMASTERS

Republicans Want Money for Use in Indiana.

CIRCULARS SENT TO ST. LOUIS

MR. BAUMHOFF SAYS HE IS RUNNING A POSTOFFICE.

Not Being Engaged in a Political Campaign He Says He Threw the Circular Into His Waste Paper Basket.

Postmaster Baumhoff and the postmasters of branch postoffices in St. Louis have been requested to contribute to the Republican campaign fund.

The money is wanted to help the Republican party carry the state of Indiana. The communication so stating is as follows:

Republican state committee, rooms 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710 Majestic Building, Indianapolis, Ind.—Charles S. Hernly, chairman; H. W. Bennett, treasurer; Joseph R. Keating, vice-chairman; Warren Bigler, secretary.

Dear Sir: Will you please read carefully the printed matter on the inclosed coin card. It will hold paper money as well as coin.

If you think the cause a good one, act quickly, for Indiana is the political storm center and very needy. CHARLES S. HERNLY, Chairman.

The card enclosed reads:

We are now engaged in a great political campaign, with unparalleled prosperity on every hand. A tremendous effort is being made to turn out of power the party that has brought these happy times to all our people. To stop the present prosperity would result in universal calamity.

No one, interested in the prosperity of our country, can afford to allow this to be done. This committee is doing all in its power to prevent such a calamity, and is in need of your financial help. Will you kindly assist us by inclosing in this card $5, or any sum you feel that you can give to carry Indiana for McKinley. Thanking you, I remain, yours truly, CHARLES S. HERNLY.

On the reverse side of the card is a receptacle for the safe transmission of the contribution, with complete instructions how to use.

The words "financial assistance" are in big type.

The head of one of the branch stations called the attention of the Post-Dispatch to the letter with a view of ascertaining from Postmaster Baumhoff if all to whom it was sent would be obliged to contribute.

Mr. Harry Bracken, private secretary to the postmaster, was shown the circular and after reading it said:

"Why, there is nothing unusual in that. We got one addressed to the postmaster and it was destroyed. We are running a postoffice here, not a political campaign bureau."

"How were the addresses of the branch postmasters secured?" he was asked.

"That information was probably taken from the postal directory. The circular was enclosed in an envelope, stamped with a two-cent stamp, and, of course, any one is privileged to use the mails for this purpose if they desire."

Several days ago about 1500 registered letters were sent to as many registered voters in the Twelfth district in an endeavor, Mr. Bracken informed the Post-Dispatch, to learn if there was false registration in that district.

About 500 were returned. Part of these were turned over to Mr. H. C. Grenner, collector of internal revenue, and the remainder to William Sacks, superintendent of mails.

Mr. Sacks told the Post-Dispatch that he received the letters, but had turned them over to Mr. Grenner, who he claimed was the sender.

"The Republicans sent these registered letters," added Mr. Bracken, "and when we received them, of course it was our duty to make the delivery."

"Where a person was not found at his reported residence, was the letter delivered to his place of business?"

"No. We tried the residences several times, but did not look up the business address."

Umbrellas.

Tomorrow, Saturday, October 27th,

FOUND NOT GUILTY

MRS. QUISNELL ACQUITTED UPON ONE CHARGE.

ANOTHER CASE PENDING

Annie Bridgewater and Policemen Testified as to the Character of Hotel de Lillian.

Mrs. Victorine Quisnell, proprietor of the Hotel De Lillian, 1228 Washington avenue appeared before Judge Boettger in the City Hall Police Court Friday morning to answer a charge of keeping a disreputable house. The police claim they made a case against her, but she was discharged.

Annie Bridgewater, the 15-year-old girl who was rescued from the house, appeared as prosecuting witness. She said she spent three months in the house and told the court clearly what sort of an establishment Mrs. Quisnell was running. She said the defendant held her a prisoner by keeping her clothes.

She said the house was frequented by men of all classes and that drinks of all kinds were served to the patrons. She gave the names of other inmates of the house and pointed out two of them who were present in court.

Several detectives testified as to the character of Mrs. Quisnell's house. They told the court that men were seen entering the place at all hours of the night.

No witnesses appeared for the defense, but her attorney asked for the discharge of the defendant on a technicality.

City Attorney Taylor took an appeal.

Annie Bridgewater, the prosecuting witness, is from Irondale, Mo. She has a childish face and manners. Since she was rescued from the house she has been in charge of Matron Kintzing of the police department. The girl will probably remain in charge of Mrs. Kintzing, as she will be wanted as a witness in the Court of Criminal Correction, where there is a case pending against Mrs. Quisnell.

Capt. Reynolds of the Central district was disappointed when he heard of the decision handed down by Judge Boettger. "Try as we may," he said, "we cannot do anything against this class of women. The department did everything possible to convict this woman. The evidence was strong and I felt sure they had a clear case against her. Maybe we will have better success when her case comes up in the Court of Criminal Correction. We will keep Annie Bridgewater to appear against the woman in this case."

JUDGE BOOTH OVERSLEPT

Jury, Sheriff and Witnesses Waited in Vain for the Judge Who Never Came.

There was no session of the St. Louis County Circuit Court Friday, although for once lawyers, jurors, sheriff and clerk all were there, besides the usual crowd of spectators.

It was the judge this time that was absent.

Judge Booth lives in Washington, Mo. He is a very domestic man and goes home as sure as there comes a day of no court. There was no case set for Thursday, and accordingly the judge went home Wednesday night, intending to be back before 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Nine o'clock came, but he was not there. The jurymen, all but one or two, were in their places. Lawyers and court officials, all but the judge, were there. And they all wondered for the judge has a record for punctuality.

Soon 9:15 arrived. Someone hurried through the hall.

"There he comes," everyone whispered.

But it was only a late juryman, thinking of the fine he would receive for tardiness and red in the face with hurrying.

"I guess I'll catch it this time," he said, as he hurried in the door.

"No, you won't, either," answered Sheriff Kerth. "You're lucky. The judge himself is late this time."

Nine-thirty passed and still no judge.

Nine-forty-five did likewise. Lawyers and jury began to get uneasy.

Finally, just at 10 o'clock a telephone call from Washington came. Clerk Hollocher answered it.

It was Judge Barth talking, and this was what he said:

"I have missed my train. My man failed to awaken me, and I overslept. Continue the case set for today, and I will be there tomorrow."

Clerk Hollocher returned to the court room, announced that the work of the day would be continued, and discharged the special jury that was assembled.

HUNT FOR BANK CLERK ALVORD BEGUN

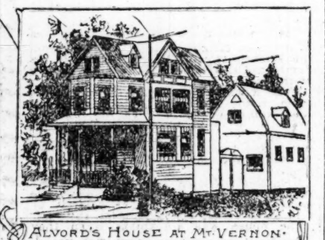

After Long Delay a Warrant Has Been Issued for His Arrest.

MRS. ALVORD AND HER HOME

STYLE OF LIVING FAR BEYOND HUSBAND'S MEANS.

But With All the Extravagance Bankers Are Puzzled About What Became of the $700,000.

ALVORD'S HOUSE AT MT. VERNON.

MRS. CORNELIUS ALVORD, JR.

NOTICE TO ALL POLICE.

This description of Alvord has been sent out to all the police and detective forces of the United States and Europe:

"Look for Cornelius L. Alvord, Jr., 52 years old, looks younger, six feet tall, weights 280 pounds, very stout, brown hair, cut closely and mixed with a little gray, mustache light brown, rather thin, dresses slouchily, round face, blue eyes, smokes continuously."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The police and detectives of every city in the world have been notified to look out for and arrest Cornelius Lansing Alvord, Jr., who stole $700,000 from the First National Bank.

Capt McClusky of the New York city detective force waited until long after business hours yesterday expecting the bank officials would lay the case before him. Not hearing from the bank he invaded the room of its president. What was the exact conversation between the bank officers and Capt. McClusky is not known. It is said, however, that McClusky declared his right to take charge of the case, adding that the policy of the officers of the bank in not moving for Alvord's arrest, presumably in order to delay making public how he worked his theft, was a mistaken policy. It is asserted also that McClusky declared he would bring the case to the grandjury unless he was put in control.

For more than an hour the men were in conversation. When McClusky left the bank he was flushed with excitement, but smiling.

"The case is in my hands," he said. "A warrant will be sworn out for the arrest of Alvord."

This was the first official step that had been taken to arrest the alleged defaulter.

The warrant was issued on application to United States Commissioner Shields. It is charged that Alvord had violated section 5209 of the Revised Statutes of the United States. McClusky will work in connection with the federal detectives.

Alvord is said to have been driven through Mount Vernon last night at 6:30 o'clock, according to two residents of that city, who knew Mr. Alvord well.

The men who say they saw Alvord are confident that they could not be mistaken. Both are reputable men and have known Alvord for many years.

Alvord's three children accompanied by their nurse, arrived at the home of Alvord's uncle in Stockport yesterday. They were not accompanied by their mother. It is stated on good authority by the people living in the vicinity of the Alvord homestead that the defaulting teller was seen in Stockport Village on Monday and it is generally believed he is in that vicinity yet. Close surveillance is kept of that vicinity by officers and if he is there he will be apprehended.

A staggering question before the bank directors is:

What has become of this vast sum of money? Seven hundred thousand dollars is an independent fortune. It could neither have been taken in a day or spent in a year without attracting some attention. Of course the prompt suggestion was made that the money had been lost in the Wall street maelstrom and that gambling houses and horse races have taken the rest. Officials of the bank, however, say that this theory is only a surmise. In their official statement, however, they state that "it is expected the shortage will be materially reduced by a substantial sum, of which there is a fair prospect of recovery."

From the above statement it does not take an overshrewd person to believe that the officials know more about the operations of the absconding teller than they are willing to reveal at this time. A story was circulated in the street during the day that Alvord had been a heavy loser in both Tennessee Coal and Iron and in Central Railroad of New Jersey stock, having been long of the one and short of the other, but no information bearing upon this point was obtainable in the city, and particularly not at the bank, where the strictest reticence was observed, and all rumors, as already stated, were said to be merely surmise. Later developments throw many additional side lights on the matter, and news that came out in the uptown sporting district last night left little doubt of how the bank's hundreds of thousands of dollars were squandered.

According to information obtained from banking sources, Alvord's defalcation was measured simply by the moderation of his demands. He had the run of the bank, and might easily have increased the extent of his speculations to millions instead of $700,000. This came about from the implicit trust that was reposed in him by the officials, from President Baker down.

The Teller Seemed to Run the Bank.

Alvord, it would appear from the explanations given, had only to abstract cash turned in by his runners, who had collected the drafts, or hold out some drafts, destroying or suppressing the letters that accompanied the remittances, gradually making good one item with another of larger amount or an aggregate of others, and repeating this process from time to time his abstractions ever growing larger as the necessity arose to conceal an ever-increasing amount and provide himself with funds for his speculations and to continue his rapid life.

But how the work could have been continued for a long period of time, with accounts to be balanced at irregular intervals, with passbooks to be written up, and calls for money coming in which could not be anticipated unless there was collusion, remains a mystery. It is scarcely conceivable that every account was balanced or closed or money drawn on a notification by letter which could be abstracted or withheld from others in the institution. A dealer, whether an out-of-town bank or a merchant, might at any time drop into the bank and call for his balance, and of that it is scarcely conceivable that a note teller, with his desk on a different floor from others, would be always cognizant.

Mrs. Alvord is a big, showy-looking woman of 38 or 40, with yellow hair and a fine complexion. She has grown stout in the last few years, but is a fine looking woman.

Mrs. Alvord's jewelry has been the talk of the town for years. It consist almost wholly of diamonds and includes some very showy pieces.

One of the most famous of her trinkets is a pair of link sleeve buttons which she wore last summer in the cuffs of her shirt waists. Each button is composed only of a three-carat diamond, held by an invisible setting. The four diamonds are said to have cost $2000.

The great social event of the year in Mount Vernon is the ball given by the Westchester County Wheelmen. Mr. Alvord is not a member of the organization, but through a friend purchased six tickets for himself and wife and four friends from New York. One of the latter was Mr. Rice of Barton & Rice, the Fifth avenue jewelers.

At this ball Mrs. Alvord created a sensation. She was almost covered with diamond jewels. She wore a diamond necklace, diamond sunbursts, diamond crescents, diamond stars, diamond pins in a dozen different designs, diamond bracelets, and diamond rings that half covered four of the fingers of each hand.

Her gown also created a sensation, and the estimates of the value of her diamonds ran all the way from $30,000 to $150,000.

One of the society leaders of Mount Vernon, in speaking of the Alvords, said:

"After the ball last February a story went the rounds about Mrs. Alvord and her jewelry. How true it is I do not know. Mr. Rice, the Fifth avenue jeweler, is one of the most intimate friends of the Alvords. He often attended the banquets given at their house. It was said that Mrs. Alvord had an arrangement with Mr. Rice by which she was to have the first chance to purchase any new piece of jewelry that was broubht out. The bit of jewelry was to be submitted to her before it was offered for sale in the store, and if she fancied it she would buy it.

The Alvords have three children—Helen, aged 8; Harry, aged 5; Gladys, aged 2.

The home in Mount Vernon is not any finer on the outside than the neighboring houses. It is at 227 Summit avenue, in Chester Hill, the fine residential section of the town. All of the property in that neighborhood is restricted.

The Alvords went to Mount Vernon six years ago. He bought the land on which the house stands for $6000. The plot has a frontage of 100 feet and a depth of 100 feet.

The house cost originally $8000 to build, but its interior has been changed and elaborated from time to time. Much money was spent on the dining room, which is paneled with expensive woods.

The villa is a three-story affair painted white and yellow and a combination of the Queen Anne and the colonial architecture. It has a broad piazza in which are eight big, comfortable lounging chairs. The stairway leading from the entrance hall to the second floor is broken by a big square platform in the middle. On the wall above this platform is a long distance telephone. The telephone service of the local company was too restricted for the sumptuous note teller.

There are several good paintings on the walls of the front drawing room and some costly bits of statuary about the apartment. The sideboard in the dining room glitters with cut glass and silver.

The barn attached to the house is one of the finest in Mount Vernon, and about the biggest.

Alvord gloried in having the finest equipages in the town. His wife had a Victoria and a brougham, both of the showiest and newest models, and a different team for each vehicle. Alvord was always driven to and from the station in a runabout drawn by a third team. His children have a horse and a buckboard.

The Summit avenue property, and all of its contents, including the stable, vehicles, horses, etc., are in the name of Mrs. Alvord. These are worth in the aggregate about $45,0000.

Alvord also bought some property in New Rochelle, for which he paid $15,000. This also is in the name of his wife.

There are many outstanding accounts with the tradespeople there now, and last night when the news of the defalcation reached them they became badly worried.

Mrs. Alvord usually paid all of the bills contracted with the local people. She had an account of her own in the Second National Bank of this city, and paid the bills by check.

MRS. ALVORD AND THE ALVORD HOME.
PROPERTY OF THE DEFAULTER AS FAR AS KNOWN.

Real estate, houses and lots in Mount Vernon	$25,000
Lots in New Rochelle	15,000
Carriages and horses	15,000
Household furniture	5,500
Paintings, bric-a-brac	10,000
Diamonds owned by Mrs. Alvord	40,000
Jewelry owned by Alvord	5,000

The Alvord residence was a country palace at Mount Vernon, filled with tasteful and costly furniture. The table was adorned with the finest silver, and on the walls hung rare paintings and tapestries. The best the market afforded in the way of food went into the kitchen, and a well-stocked wine cellar was not the least attractive feature of the house.

Mrs. Alvord is a woman of much force of character and a social leader in Mount Vernon. No woman dressed more expensively nor in better taste. She gave receptions and costly dinners frequently. She wore many and costly diamonds, which were the subject of much remark.

TWO WIVES SEEK DIVORCE

Mrs. Ella L. Turner and Mrs. Mary E. Wright Allege Their Husbands Failed to Provide for Them.

Henry D. Turner was sued for a divorce Friday by Ella L. Turner. The couple were married, it is alleged, Dec. 11, 1886, in Washington, D. C., and separated Oct. 25 last.

The plaintiff claims the defendant abused and assaulted her, remained away from his home until unreasonable hours of the night and conducted himself in a way that convinced her he had no affection for her. She asks for the custody of the three children of the marriage.

Mary E. Wright has begun proceedings in the Circuit Court for a divorce from Edward Wright, who is employed as a salesman in a Washington avenue wholesale house.

The plaintiff claims the defendant has treated her unkindly, used profane language in her presence, made meager allowances for her support and been unreasonably jealous of her.

Deed of Trust Filed.—The Bolte Stove Co., of 915 and 917 North Broadway, filed a chattel deed of trust Friday in the sum of $5076.08 to the St. Louis Trust Co., as trustee for the Bowen Manufacturing Co., and other creditors.

Thomas Quinn Dead.—Thomas Quinn, an old resident of St. Louis was buried Friday from the residence of his son at 2314 Madison street to St. Leo's Church and thence to Cavalry Cemetery. The deceased was 83 years of age and was one of the best known men in North St. Louis. His death resulted from an attack of bronchitis.

RUBBED IT IN

Third Time Won.

"Last Xmas I took dinner with a minister's family in New Haven, and although the spread was elaborate and appetizing, nothing was so heartily held up and applauded as a little saucer of Grape-Nuts food, standing by the minister's plate. He said: 'I have taken medicine after medicine, but nothing has brought relief to body and brain like this food.'

"His wife echoed the sentiments and said he could never tell how much brighter and braver she had been since the advent of Grape-Nuts into her home.

"A week later I called to see a widow who had a broken arm. I expected to find her disconsolate, but to my surprise, was greeted with cheerful smiles. 'Well,' I said, 'How is this, I expected to find you in the depths of despondency.' 'Oh, no,' she said, 'I could not cook very well with a broken arm, but with a little hot milk added to a few spoonsful of Grape-Nuts, I get a most delicious meal that builds up my strength by the wholesale.'

"This was the second time I had seen Grape-Nuts in the character of a public benefactor. Before night I received my third glimpse of Grape-Nuts, when calling on a little child who had burned her hand. Her mother was just preparing a saucer of strawberries and Grape-Nuts food. 'Do you like it?' said I. 'Oh, don't I?' said the child. 'It's so good it most makes me forget my burn.'

"Now I decided I must have some Grape-Nuts myself, for if it was good for tired brain and burns and broken arms, it surely ought to benefit my broken nerves; so I had a package sent up to the house and have had some Grape-Nuts every morning for breakfast since, with this result, that nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep, came back to me, my nerves somehow quieted down and life took on a different aspect. The old tired, sleepy feeling has gone and the air seems charged with buoyancy.

"I can as easily walk ten blocks as one, difficult duties are easily accomplished and all the burdens of life are lightened by the astonishing power of good and well selected food. I have taken no medicine during this time, therefore I can only attribute the agreeable change to the sure help that comes daily from the use of this remarkable food." Jennie May Summer, 69 Abbott Ave., Waterbury, Conn.

"Human Wreckage"

Says Dr. Bennett, "Strews the World From Neglecting the Means of a Cure for the Weaknesses of Men and Women—Nature Hangs Out Danger Signals in That Feeling of Restlessness, Irritability and Nervousness, Languor, Weak, Trembling, Cold Limbs and Physical Exhaustion—Electricity Is the Only Cure Known to Science When Properly Applied for Restoring to Weak Persons Strong, Vigorous, Robust Manhood—The United States Government Has Given Me Exclusive Right to My Method of Applying Electricity as a Reward for My Discovery."—The Doctor Guarantees His Electric Belt to Cure in Every Case and Warns You Against the "Trick" in "Free Trial" and "Pay When You Are Cured" Offers.

Do not trifle with your health. The greatest glory of man is his manhood and strength. The weaknesses of men and women, which drain the last spark of vitality and energy from their systems, leaving them languid, listless, where they were formerly possessed of strong and vigorous physical and nerve power, can be cured in every case by the proper application of Electricity. I know, in my Electric Belt, that I have discovered the only true method of curing the various weaknesses and disorders of the human family. Others claim to have just as good and just as curative Electric Belts as mine. But they have not. My Electric Belt and Suspensory are fully protected by United States patents which grant me the exclusive use of my methods. I have imitators but it is easy to discern the genuine from the imitation if you will but investigate. You owe it to yourself, you owe it to your family, you owe it to mankind and to future generations to become strong and healthy as Nature intended you to be. I offer you a cure at a price within your financial reach—a cure that is guaranteed perfect and permanent. Drugs cannot and will not cure these obstinate and humiliating diseases, and if you persist in their use they will in time utterly destroy your stomach.

Dr. Bennett's Electric Belt

Is unlike all other electric and so-called electric belts and must not be confounded with them. It has soft, silken, chamois-covered sponge water chamber electrodes that cannot and will not burn, blister, fry and almost cremate the patient, as do those barbaric metal electrodes used on all other makes of belts, which have bare metal electrodes upon which verdigris will accumulate. Verdigris is a deadly poison only a late juryman, thinking of the fine he would receive for tardiness and red in the face with hurrying.

"I guess I'll catch it this time," he said, as he hurried in the door.

"No, you won't, either," answered Sheriff Kerth. "You're lucky. The judge himself is late this time."

Nine-thirty passed and still no judge.

"I have missed my train. My man failed to awaken me, and I overslept. Continue the case set for today, and I will be there tomorrow."

Clerk Hollocher returned to the court room, announced that the work of the day would be continued, and discharged the special jury that was assembled.

WERE FOUND GUILTY

FOUR BOOKMAKERS FINED $1000 EACH.

GAMBLING WITHOUT LICENSE

Jury in the Court of Criminal Correction Assessed the Maximum of Punishment.

A jury in the Court of Criminal Correction Thursday afternoon found four bookmakers guilty of bookmaking without a license and assessed the maximum punishment of $1000 fine in each case.

The bookmakers were: William Hummel, Frank Phillips, Hugh McGuire and Thomas Gorman.

The jurors were James B. Alback, 3657 Botanical avenue; Henry C. Andress, 1057 Suburban avenue; Albert G. Aufderheide, 3923 Maffitt avenue; Louis P. Boehmer, 1642 Texas avenue; Lorenz Braun, 1713 South Seventh street; John H. Bruder, 1310 Benton street; Robert G. Craig, 3031 Washington avenue; Charles G. Cross, 4401A Gibson avenue; William Huber, 1758 Chouteau avenue; Albert Kuhne, 1316 South Broadway; Anton Luecke, 5554 Maple avenue, and John H. Sommerich, 2213 St. Louis avenue.

The jury was out about an hour. Judge Clark, who was on the bench, stated that he did not consider the state's case a strong one. He seemed to be surprised at the jury's finding.

Lieut. Johnson of the Central district said he was himself agreeably surprised.

Hummel, Philips and Gorman appeared for trial in Judge Clark's court Friday morning to answer a similar charge in another case.

Defendant's attorney filed a demurrer to the evidence as being insufficient, and the judge discharged the accused.

FOR THE CHILDREN.

To Keep Their Digestion Perfect Nothing Is So Safe and Pleasant as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Thousands of men and women have found Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets the safest and most reliable preparation for any form of indigestion or stomach trouble.

Thousands of people who are not sick, but are well and wish to keep well, take Stuart's Tablets after every meal to insure perfect digestion and avoid trouble.

But it is not generally known that the Tablets are just as good and wholesome for little folks as for their elders.

Little children who are pale, thin and have no appetite, or do not grow or thrive, should use the tablets after eating and will derive great benefit from them.

Mrs. G. H. Crotsley, 538 Washington St., Hoboken, New Jersey, writes: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets just fill the bill for children as well as for older folks. I've had the best luck with them. My three-year-old girl takes them as readily as candy. I have only to say "tablets" and she drops everything else and runs for them.

A Buffalo mother a short time ago who despaired of the life of her babe was so delighted with the results from giving the child these tablets that she went before the notary public of Erie Co., N. Y., and made the following affidavit:

Gentlemen: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were recommended to me for my two-months' old baby, which was sick and puny and the doctors said was suffering from indigestion. I took the child to the hospital, but there found no relief. A friend mentioned the Stuart Tablets and I procured a box from my druggist and used only the large sweet lozenges in the box and was delighted to find they were just the thing for my baby. I feel justified in saying that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets saved my child's life.

MRS. W. T. DETHLOPE.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 12th day of April, 1897.

HENRY KARIS,
Notary Public in and for Erie Co., N. Y.

For babies, no matter how young or delicate, the tablets will accomplish wonders in increasing flesh, appetite and growth. Use only the large sweet tablets in every box. Full sized boxes are sold by all druggists for 50 cents, and no parent should neglect the use of this safe remedy for all stomach and bowel troubles if the child is ailing in any way regarding its food or assimilation.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been known for years as the best preparation for all stomach troubles whether in adults or infants.

DIAMOND DISAPPEARED

ARTHUR LAKE ARRESTED ON MRS. ROLF'S COMPLAINT.

POLICE SEEK MRS. LAKE

Lakes Applied to Mrs. Rolff for Room and While They Were There She Missed Her Jewel.

Arthur Lake, a portrait painter, is a prisoner at the Dayton Street Station and his wife is being sought by detectives of Chief Desmond's office. They will be held in connection with the theft of a valuable diamond from Mrs. Robert Rolff of 1211 North Channing avenue.

Mrs. Rolff reported to Capt. Gaffney that about 10 o'clock Friday morning Mr. and Mrs. Lake called at her house and asked for rooms. She says that she showed them a room on the first floor which seemed to suit them.

"I went upstairs to get some articles for the room," said Mrs. Rolff to the captain. "I left Mr. and Mrs. Lake together in the apartment. My diamond was in a drawer of the dresser.

"When I came down they were still there. I happened to go to the dresser to place some sheets in it. I thought of the diamond. It was not in its accustomed place. I got white in the face, but controlled myself. When I turned there was nothing in my manner to show my feelings. After leaving them I started for the station."

Officers were detailed on the case at once and accompanied Mrs. Rolff to the house. When they arrived there the couple were gone. A visit was then made to the home of Mrs. Andrew Peckham, a widow, residing at 3309 Morgan street. Mr. Peckham is the mother of Mrs. Lake.

Lake was found in bed, making a pill of castile soap. He was arrested and searched. In his clothing the officers found half of a jeweler's envelope, which Mrs. Rolff identified as the one in which her diamond rested. The other half of the envelope was found in the room.

The officers next turned their attention to Mrs. Lake, who was in the house when they arrived with Mrs. Rolff. She had disappeared. Despite the indignation by Mrs. Peckham at the invasion of her premises Lake was told to dress and accompany the officers to the station. Mrs. Lake will be arrested as soon as the detectives who have been detailed on the case can find her.

The diamond, which Mrs. Rolff values at $200, was not recovered.

THINKS IT WAS "RIDICULOUS"

President Bruckman of Seckner Co. Indignant.

CALLED BEFORE CITY OFFICERS

PROMISES NO CAUSE OF COMPLAINT AFTER NOV. 15.

Resented the Letter Addressed to Him by the Board of Public Improvements Concerning the City Lights.

President E. G. Bruckman and Attorney John H. Drabelle of the Seckner Construction Co. appeared before the Board of Public Improvements Friday morning in answer to an order from the board calling the company's attention to a formal complaint filed by Supervisor of Electric Lighting O'Reilly that it was not complying with all the provisions of its contract with the city.

The president and attorney promised that after Nov. 15 there would be no more failures, on the part of the company, to carry out all the provisions of its contract, and that in the interval there would be as few failures as possible.

The board took no action, except to refer the subject back to its special committee on city lighting.

During the hearing Mr. Bruckman characterized the board's action in summoning him into its presence to answer Mr. O'Reilly's complaint as "ridiculous," and said there was no occasion for the board to send the Seckner Co. the letter it did.

It seems the Seckner Co.'s contract provides that it shall light its lamps at this particular time of the year at 5:30 o'clock in the evening. At least, Mr. O'Reilly notified the board that it should have done so on Monday, Oct. 15.

Instead, Mr. O'Reilly reported the company started the first three circuits at 6:25, another at 7:12, three more at 8:10 and the last three at 8:40.

When Attorney Drabelle arose to answer the complaint he took exception to the wording of the letter sent his company by the board, directing them to appear. He said the board had declared therein that the company was not carrying out the provisions of its contract in "good faith." Mr. Drabelle was certain that the company had not acted in bad faith. While possibly the company had been delinquent in some minor respects, it was through no fault of theirs, as Mr. Bruckman would explain.

Mr. Bruckman told the board that his company for a few days had trouble with its boilers, but that they were in good shape now, and that since last Monday the lamps had been lighted on time. It would continue to do so unless temporary engineering difficulties interfered.

President McMath wanted to know if the Seckner company owned its own boilers. Mr. Bruckman said it owned three, enough to light the entire city.

Sewer Commissioner Hermann inquired what caused the trouble with the boilers and whether the company could not have obviated the difficulty.

Mr. Bruckman replied that the trouble was caused by the delay of the contractors in getting the machinery here in time. He explained that it had been ordered promptly, but that the manufacturers were overcrowded and that in some instances the company had even paid bonuses to have the machinery rushed to St. Louis on time. He declared that was ample evidence of the company's "good faith."

It was at this juncture that Bruckman declared there was no occasion for the board's letter. In addition to saying that it was "ridiculous," he declared his company had done everything it could and would have done more had it not been delayed by the city in stringing its wires.

Then Mr. Hermann wanted to know if there would be any more delays and Mr. Bruckman said not after Nov. 15.

Mr. McMath asked why Mr. Bruckman fixed at particular date. The latter replied that there would be more boilers and an additional engine here by that time. He said the company's plant was thoroughly equipped and that it was spoken of by the technical papers as a model.

Mr. McMath wanted to know if the Seckner company generated its electricty or purchased it from another company.

Mr. Bruckman said it purchased the power to operate its motors, but generated its own electricity to supply the arc lamps. He was then excused.

Supervisor O'Reilly was asked what the condition of the lights had been since he made his complaint. He replied that the day after the notice had been sent to the company the lights were lighted on time and that since then they were nearly always lighted on time.

"Absolutely on time," observed Mr. Bruckman.

Mr. O'Reilly said he had no special complaint to make just then and the question was turned over to the committee.

THE HOSS SHOW

A LOOK AHEAD.

Though warm the weather is today,
Pray, let us all remember
That skies will all be dull and gray
In dreary, sad November.

SHUTE T. SHUTES.

Nothing is new under the sun, except the Sunday Post-Dispatch. Even in slang there is nothing new. If you will examine "Don Juan," canto 1, stanza 164, you will find two familiar expressions, viz. namely, to wit:

With him returned his posse comitatus,
The attorney last, who lingered near the door
Reluctantly, still tarrying there as late as
Antonio let him, not a little sore
At this most strange and unexplainable hiatus
In Don Alfonso's acts.

Speaking of an editor, Byron said (canto 1, stanza 210):

Yet if my gentle Muse he please to roast
And smear his page with gall, instead of honey,
All I can say is that he had the money.

How often have we heard of political "trimmers" since the campaign commenced! Well, there were "trimmers" in 1818, when "Don Juan" was written, just the same as there are now, as witness the following, from canto 3, stanza 82:

Their poet, a sad trimmer, but no less
In company a very pleasant fellow.

And a trimmer then, as now, is a man who hedges, or pledges himself to a certain cause with mental reservations.

Thus do we see how difficult it is to originate. Being original is all there is of life. It remained for the Sunday Post-Dispatch to set the pace for originality in this town, and the standard which it set has never been exceeded—or lowered. Here are a few features which you will find, each copiously illustrated, in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch:

Photographs of millions of stars in different parts of the sky; a work commenced in 1887, described by an eminent astronomer.

One class of St. Louis citizens who never vote, with many views of our cosmopolitan population.

St. Louis boys who may be the great editors of the future.

The battle of Tien Tsin described by a St. Louis soldier who fought there.

A St. Louis enterprise which is destined to revolutionize modern traffic.

The life story of the only Jew from Jerusalem in St. Louis.

Photographs of a Girls' McKinley and Roosevelt Marching Club, near St. Louis, with 50 members.

Pictures of a remarkable family of 11 near St. Louis, all of whom are athletes.

The "sprightly romance" (as Molly Elliott Seawell says) of a St. Louisan who had an unparalleled experience moving his family.

How every woman may have beautiful hands, which are a matter wholly of care, not inheritance, authorities say.

Democratic Meeting.—A Democratic mass meeting will be held Saturday night at Eighteenth and Lynch streets. It will be under the auspices of the Workingmen's Bryan Club. The speakers will be Messrs. Owen Miller, C. W. Perkins, A. H. Bolte and C. J. Nordmeyer.

SICK WOMAN'S WHIM

REFUSES TO LEAVE THE RUINS OF HER LATE HOME.

HAS BEEN HOUSED IN A BARN

John Knolling's Fine Residence Destroyed by Fire at Fenton and His Family Narrowly Escaped.

Mrs. John Knolling, who narrowly escaped death in the burning of her home near Fenton, St. Louis County, Thursday night, refuses to leave the scene of the fire and is being cared for by her husband in a barn which stands near the ruins.

Mrs. Knolling has been ill for some time. Thursday her husband left her in the care of a colored woman and went to Kirkwood on business. He did not return until after the fire.

The fire started on the roof. Dry leaves blown there caught from some sparks from the kitchen stove. When discovered, the flames had enwrapped all the upper portion of the house.

Mrs. Knolling was lying in bed in a room on the first floor. While the old colored woman attended to getting the children, all of them small, from the house, she crawled from her bed to the floor and out of the house into the yard. Then she fainted, overcome in her weakness by fright.

Neighbors arriving at this time carried her into the barn, which stood near, and made her as comfortable as possible on a rough bed they constructed on the floor.

The house was all ablaze when they reached it and not a thing was saved. The loss to Mr. Knolling on the contents of the house is placed at about $500, with no insurance. The house itself belonged to O. J. Mudd of Kirkwood. It was old, but once was considered one of the best buildings in St. Louis County. It was insured for $1500, but this will not cover the loss.

After the fire had burned itself out the neighbors turned their attention to Mrs. Knolling and began preparations for her removal to the home of some one of them. When all was ready and they started to lift her into a wagon, she opposed them and asked that they leave her where she was.

They complied, thinking that when her husband came she would permit herself to be moved. They were mistaken. Mr. Knolling had no more influence with her than the neighbors.

She was determined to remain in the barn. Mr. Knolling, assisted by the neighbors, obtained a bed and set it up; clothing was secured and Mrs. Knolling prepared for a night there beside his wife, whose condition was becoming worse as a result of the fright and excitement.

Friday morning she was still of a mind to stay in the barn. Mr. Knolling says he will respect her wish, and he has already begun preparations to build a little cabin near the ruins of his home.

REWARD FOR WIFE'S RETURN

Robert Ballard of New Douglas, Ill., Will Give $25 for Information of Mrs. Ballard.

"Lost—One wife, good-looking, dark hair, black eyes, slender. When last seen had 5-months-old baby with her. Finder will please return to Robert Ballard, New Douglas, Ill., and no questions asked. Reward of $25 will be paid."

This is an advertisement that did not appear, but Mr. Ballard has made the announcement that he will give $25 to any one who will advise him as to the whereabouts of his wife, who has been missing for three weeks.

Mr. Ballard is getting lonely on his farm and wants to see his wife in her accustomed place. He has just discovered his loss, supposing that Mrs. Ballard was visiting relatives in Mattoon. She went to that town three weeks ago. Mr. Ballard wrote her several letters, which have been returned unopened. He investigated and found that a few days after his wife reached Mattoon she received a call from a former neighbor of the Ballards, a man of engaging presence. That day Mrs. Ballard and her baby went away on a train.

Further investigation disclosed the fact that this former neighbor has disposed of all his realty, which netted him a considerable sum of ready money.

Incidentally Mr. Ballard has discovered that the neighbor is missing, and he has decided to risk $25 on the chance of mending his fractured family.

COAL AND FIRE CLAY FOUND.

Sebastian Bosler Will Develop His St. Louis County Mine.

Sebastian Bosler of Clayton received word Thursday afternoon that rich veins of coal and fire clay had been found on his land near Malcolm, St. Louis County.

Mr. Bosler has had an expert at work on the land for some time, in the belief that there was coal not far beneath the surface.

The vein of coal was struck Thursday morning at a depth of only 35 feet. It is 2½ feet in thickness.

Just beneath the coal is the fire clay, which is reported to be of fine quality and in large amounts.

Mr. Bosler said Thursday it was his intention to develop his newly found wealth immediately. He will work both the coal and the fire clay.

GIRL SAVED FROM THE RIVER

BY PATROLMAN DOYLE

IS MAMIE MOORE OF NAMEOKI

Her Identity Established by the Post-Dispatch Through Lee Fry, Who Was Her Schoolmate in the Illinois Town.

Mamie Moore of Nameoki, Ill., was saved from the river Thursday by the prompt action of Patrolman Doyle, who caught the distraught girl as she stood poised to leap from a wharfboat at the foot of Market street.

She had walked to the river brink an hour before. Sitting on the projecting end of the boat she seemed to deliberate. The watchman on the boat watched the girl and noted her grief. Alarmed by her actions he called Doyle.

By the time the policeman arrived the girl had made her decision. She rose to her feet and throwing off a light wrap started across the wharfboat to the rail overhanging the river.

Doyle ran after the girl. She was almost over the rail when he caught her arm, and pulled her back to safety. She begged the policeman to release her, but was silent when he asked her name. An ambulance took the girl to the hospital, where she persistently refused to give information of herself.

Friday morning her identity was a mystery and the hospital authorities are nonplussed.

Among her rambling statements the girl mentioned the name of a Mrs. Fry. This clew led to the discovery of her identity by the Post-Dispatch.

Mrs. Fry was found living at 2224 Franklin avenue and her son Lee offered to accompany the Post-Dispatch to the hospital.

When Lee Fry looked in the dark cell where the mysterious girl was confined, he recognized her and she called his name.

MAMIE MOORE.

"It's Mamie Moore of Nameoki, Ill.," he said. "I went to school with her and know all her folks. Her father works in the car shops at Litchfield, Ill., and she has several brothers who are railroad men. She is a good girl and has been educated well."

The girl denied attempting suicide. She said she walked down to look at the river and was arrested.

To a cell mate she said that she was tired of life and concluded to jump in the river and end all her troubles.

She has been away from home for some time and was last employed by the owner of a lodging house on South Broadway.

She will be held at the hospital until her parents come to care for her. She says they have moved from Nameoki to Litchfield, Ill., in the last week.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO PAY ME UNTIL I CURE YOU.

It's something new in the field of medicine to meet with a man who positively knows what his remedy will do and is willing to wait for his fee until the work has been done. I am that man. I know that my Electric Belt will cure where every other treatment fails, and, to make you feel secure I don't ask you to pay until you are cured.

THE DR. McLAUGHLIN WAY.

It took me twenty years to perfect my appliance and the way I now use it, but there is no guesswork about it now. As sure as an engineer knows that he can pump steam into his boilers and make his engine go, I know that I can pump electricity into your body and make it go, and go right. There's no guesswork about the engineer's task, as he has learned his trade, I have learned mine in the same way—by experience; and know what I can do.

If you are broken down from hard work or any other reason; if your nerves are shaky; if you have those "Come and go" pains in your back, shoulders and hips; if your stomach is weak, your kidneys and bladder ailing, or if you are a man or woman with any trouble which you have tried in vain to cure with drugs, I will cure you first and you can pay me afterward. My appliance cures while you sleep and causes no bother.

A free test to all who call. Send for free descriptive book today.

IMPORTANT.

☞The Post-Dispatch will accept all advertising with the distinct and unequivocal GUARANTEE that it has a larger bona-fide PAID circulation in the CITY of ST. LOUIS and its suburbs than any TWO other morning or evening newspapers COMBINED; and a larger paid circulation, SUNDAY OR DAILY, than any other Newspaper WEST OF THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER.

One of the eight largest Sunday Newspapers in the United States.

UNNECESSARY KILLINGS.

Two deaths, sudden and terrible, were recorded in Thursday's Post-Dispatch. William O. Beckhart was crushed under a street and John B. Harper was crushed between a railroad car and the wall of a building.

Both of these horrors could in all probability have been prevented if proper precautions had been taken by the railway companies.

In the case of Beckhart the fender on the car might have saved him if it had been really effective. Nearly all the fenders used on St. Louis street cars are worthless. This is a well-known fact, but nothing is done about it.

In the case of Harper, it is said that railroad cars had on former occasions left the track at the point where he was killed. This suggests that the track is improperly laid. Yet no step seems to have been taken to make it safer.

We boast, with justice, of the wonderful industrial progress of St. Louis. But human life is constantly endangered for lack of life-saving apparatus and precautions that ought to be compulsory.

The constant maiming and killing which horrifies the city is not a necessary accompaniment of our industrial activity. It is due to the apathy of the public and of the city officials which allows the record to grow day by day without effective action to check it.

There is a great deal of prosperous activity among the local burglars and especially in the dark of the moon.

HEAD OF THE FAMILY.

Laura Jean Libbey, in the Thursday Post-Dispatch, gives wives advice on the treatment of husbands, and among other things, says, "Oh, wives! this I earnestly entreat of you, let the husband be head of his family."

It will be noticed that Miss Libbey says "his family," not "your" family or the joint family. The husband is treated as the creator of the family. The pronoun is possessive. Its use bars the wife from claiming an equal ownership, to say nothing of a disposing power.

Well, here we are "up against it" again. Whose family is it, anyhow? What does the New Woman say about it? It is true that in most cases the husband is the breadwinner. But the wife has most to do with the family, as represented by the children. She gives as much toil and care to them as he does and frequently a great deal more. Isn't it her family as much as his? And isn't she equally the "head?"

Is the double-headed rulership of the family, which is a modern notion, practicable? Or do modern families need any rulership?

After making the bank safe safe, the problem will be to safeguard the money that should get there.

GREAT ORATORY.

Mark Hanna told an Aurora, Ill., audience that for a week he had been "talking against Bryan and the northeast wind."

"That's two winds," shouted an ardent partisan.

"No, it's only one," replied Mr. Hanna. "The other was hot air."

Hot air! The campaign oratory this year is on a high plane, isn't it? There seems to be a desire on the part of the spellbinders to outdo the fishwives themselves. They have neither wit, nor words, nor power of speech. Their vocabularly is the scantiest, and when they are hard pressed they descend to the muddiest slang and billingsgate. Even Mr. Roosevelt, who is a man of education, and considerable education, evinces plentiful lack of decent words in which to clothe invective. When asked troublesome questions he replies that his tormentor is a hobo or drunk or a fool. On one occasion he dared a noisy Democrat to fight him.

Hanna and Roosevelt are the worst offenders. Tillman is pretty bad, but nobody expects the elevation of Burke or the grace of Clay from Tillman.

Death used to ride a pale horse, but he now finds a more desirable seat on the recklessly run trolley.

A LAMP LAW FOR PEDESTRIANS.

St. Louis has an ordinance requiring lighted lamps on vehicles at night. Why does not the Municipal Assembly pass an ordinance requiring pedestrians to carry lighted lamps at night?

Of course, we have the moon yet occasionally; but when the moon is not shining pedestrians must mope around in the dark in danger of colliding or being run over or lost or injured in many ways. For the protection of the city and the citizens pedestrians should be compelled to carry lamps.

Freedom might be permitted in the location and style of lamps used. A lamp could be fastened on each shoulder or carried on the head, or, after the manner of the eccentric comedian, an electric light bulb might be worn on the nose.

The Municipal Assembly is neglecting its duty in this matter. Let us have pedestrian lamps when the mayoralty moon is in hiding.

With the European camel's head in the Chinaman's tent, the camel's body must eventually get there.

WHAT IS THE MATTER?

What is the matter with Chicago University?

A few days ago a professor in that great institution told the students that John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie and other captains of industry were greater men than Shakspeare. Then another was rebuked by the young women because his lectures were so full of slang as to be unintelligible. Still another wrote an impossible novel, holding up Chicago society to ridicule. These are a few of the queer things seen and heard in that center of scholarship. And now comes a professor or instructor in history and tells the students that the citizens of Ohio who gave the Dowie elders a coat of tar and feathers were the inheritors of the "American spirit of lawlessness," first manifested in the Boston tea party.

The Boston tea party, it appears, was an act of mob violence, and "present-day lawlessness is a remnant of the revolution."

There is just enough in this to make it catchy, but teachers should not try to be catchy. The Boston tea party was a violent protest by the Americans against an infringement of their "ancient liberties," as established in the law. To see in it nothing but mob violence is to be blind to all the essential facts of English history.

It is incredible that any sentiment caused by political animosities should arise among the voters of Missouri that will militate against the success of the World's Fair amendments, Nos. 4 and 5. The World's Fair is a matter wholly apart from politics and is supported by all the party organizations. It will benefit Democrats, Republicans, Prohibitionists, Populists and Socialists alike. The Post-Dispatch does not credit the imputation that there are Missourians so narrow as to permit the acrimonies of political debate to lead them to endeavor to defeat a great public project so vital to the interests of both the city and state as the World's Fair. All citizens, regardless of party affiliations, should join heartily in support of the World's Fair and carry amendments 4 and 5 by an overwhelming majority.

ANOTHER REGISTRATION OPPORTUNITY.

In section 21 of the election law quoted in Thursday's Post-Dispatch, providing for a board of appeals on registration, is the following clause:

> Said board of appeals may also register as qualified voters such persons as may make application who failed to appear before the board of registration because of sickness, forgetfulness, absence from the city or other reasonable cause at the time of precinct registration.

It is evident from the wording of the clause that the granting of the privilege of registering to those who failed to register on regular days is discretionary with the board. The law says the board "may also register" persons who failed to register on account of "sickness, forgetfulness, absence from the city or other reasonable cause."

But it is just as evident that the intent of this provision is to make the opportunity for citizens to register as wide as possible. Manifestly the object of the lawmakers was to secure a full registration of legally qualified voters by placing it within the power of the board of election commissioners to admit to registration on these appeal days all who offer a reasonable excuse for failing to register previously.

Instead, therefore, of construing this clause with severity and putting obstacles in the way of the registration of citizens during these three days, as Secretary Hoblitzelle indicated will be done, the board should construe the law liberally and open the way for all otherwise qualified to vote to fit themselves for voting by registration. Even a change of mind is evidence of a step toward better citizenship and should be encouraged.

Sound public policy demands the fullest exercise of suffrage rights by all reputable citizens. The election commissioners should use the power placed in their hands with care to prevent fraud, but with the purpose of securing the fullest expression, within legal limits, of the popular will.

In the coming election there should be more scratching in Missouri than has ever before been known. Scratch the NO World's Fair paragraphs—amendments 4 and 5.

UNIONS OF CITIZENS.

The organization of citizens in one of the residence districts to clean the streets and provide police protection for themselves is a practical way of meeting the present emergency.

So far as the municipal government is concerned, the city is in a condition not far removed from anarchy, and citizens must combine to save themselves.

But the really effective work must be looked for through associations for political action. Neighborhood associations are temporary expedients which should be encouraged. But they are grounded in an acceptance and do not contemplate a change of conditions. Organize for public political work.

Sir Robert Hart's picture of future conditions in China are regarded as too gloomy, yet there is foundation for gloom. There is a chance for the fool among the powers to stir up a Chinese row that will keep the Western nations disastrously busy for a century.

While there are American citizens too indolent or careless to register as voters, there are others who, in order to be sure to vote, postpone moving into a ward in which they are not registered. The city, the state and the nation are all in great need of more clean, persistent voters.

Little Bobs ought not to be disturbed by the English jingoes who are trying to belittle him. There is nothing glorious for Great Britain in the Boer war, and it is not worth while to dispute about its "honors."

The Supreme Court's coming opinion as to whether we have made a "grave departure from right principles" in Porto Rico ought to be delivered before the election. Voters would like to know.

The remarks made in St. Louis homes of late on the kind of light they are getting would make a considerable racket if they were all together in one place.

A permanent deep channel in the Mississippi would be worth a great deal more to the country than a large standing army.

"SEND ME MASHED."

The following story is told on one of St. Joseph's brides: Having just returned from her wedding trip and gone to housekeeping, she resolved to show her husband that she could work. In other words, she resolved to be useful as well as ornamental. The second day after going to housekeeping she stepped into the kitchen and asked the cook how the supply of edibles was holding out. The servant informed her that the potato basket was empty and that some potatoes would be needed for the evening meal. Happy in the thought that she could be of some service, the young wife stepped to the telephone and calling the grocer asked him if he had any potatoes on hand. On being told that he had, she ordered a peck.

"But, Mrs. B.," asked the grocer, "what kind shall we send?"

"O, let me see," she returned. "John likes mashed best; send me mashed."—St. Joseph News.

REMARRIAGE AFTER DIVORCE.

Bishop Doane of Albany Says That It Should Be Prohibited, on Religious and Social Grounds.

I HAVE no need to repeat the religious and theological grounds on which I am satisfied in my own mind that there is no law of God whose terms are definite and certain, which allows any remarriage after divorce for any cause arising after marriage. I have, however, the following reasons to offer:

First, that the marriage relation, being at the foundation of the family, which is the foundation of the state, is a fundamental principle of all civilized and national life.

Secondly, that the alarming increase of divorce has become a serious threat to morality, decency, social stability in this country and this age.

Thirdly, that the canon law of this church today sets a higher standard than is set by the civil law of the states or by the canon of any religious body except the Church of England.

Fourthly, that, judged either by its effect or by the authority on which it rests, it is not stringent enough.

Fifthly, that there is absolute agreement in this church upon the one fact—namely, that divorce with remarriage can be possibly tolerated only in the one instance of adultery on the innocent party in a divorce suit for adultery.

Sixthly, that it is impossible for any one to affirm that the language of the 19th chapter of the Gospel according to St. Matthew, on which this sole exception is grounded, is absolutely certain either in its authority or in its interpretation.

Seventhly, that this record is not only different from, but absolutely at variance with other statements of our Lord upon the same subject as recorded in the other evangelists, especially with our Lord's acceptance of the original law of this primeval institution, namely, that "the twain are one flesh," and that "man may not put asunder what God has joined together."

Eighthly, that St. Paul's statement in both the Epistle to the Corinthians and the Epistle to the Romans clearly shows the position of the Apostolic Church and his own definite teaching from our Lord himself, that only death dissolves the marriage bond.

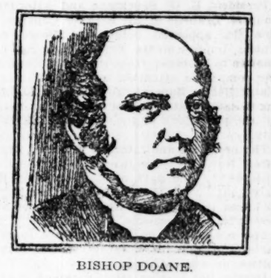

Ninthly, that for the first 300 years of the primitive church no such thing was known as remarriage after divorce.

Tenthly, that the Church of England, from the time of the Norman conquest to the present day, forbids such remarriages by her canon law.

Eleventhly, that the whole spirit of the marriage service of the church maintains the indissoluble sanctity of the marriage bond.

Twelfthly, that to call this a hardship does not prove that it is not right; and it is no greater hardship than the necessary prohibition of divorce, with the right to remarry, for insanity or lifelong imprisonment.

And lastly, that where there is any least doubt upon a question of this vital importance, moral, religious and social, the act of mercy is to safeguard the sanctity of marriage against any possible desecration to keep man or woman from the possibility of the sin of a marriage "otherwise than as God's word doth allow," and to leave the door open for penitence, even after the gravest sin, to find pardon and restoration.

A Job for Active Citizens.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

If the citizens around about Whittier and Newstead avenue, Fairfax and Washington, can do effective work cleaning the streets, it suggests the belief that they, with others, might clean the City Hall. Will they try it? Of course it's a big job, but it will have to be done sometime, and why not begin now? The average St. Louisan seems to think he is not called to act as a citizen except when his own private interest or comfort is in peril. And then he organizes not for the general good, but to safeguard his neighborhood. Is it any wonder that we have to rely on the inconstant moon for light? CITIZEN.

While the postoffice is being improved I hope the space for the newspaper and magazine delivery will be increased. Nor should that limited space be a playground for the small letter-carriers. S. Q. EEZE.

Constitutional Amendment No. 3.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Constitutional Amendment No. 3 should be voted down, "Yes" scratched out and "No" remain.

If adopted it would require on all properties on which there are any loans a separate tax bill. Say I own a piece of land worth $5000. It is assessed at $4000. If I borrow $2000 the assessor would be compelled to make out a tax bill against the holder of the deed of trust or mortgage as against the amount of his loan; then another tax bill would be made out as against the owner of the $2000 as the owner of equity.

The amendment is not only offensive but it places a stigma against at least 65 per cent of those who borrow upon their landed estates; so as to prevent them from erecting homes and bettering their condition, for the young enterprising farmer who is honest and industrious, who borrows to improve his farm and thereby better generally his condition.

Such a law, if unfortunately approved of, would place an embargo against realty so that the millions of money loaned today in the state could not be renewed; that no further real estate loans would be made thereafter and if there would be, while now money is plenty at from 5 to 6 per cent interest, it could not be had on landed property without an increase of from 7 to 10 per cent; while anyone giving good collateral security of goods, bonds or stocks could step into any bank and get money easily for 6 per cent.

Danger in the Dark.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Why are the lamps which are supposed to light up the alleys, misplaced in such a way that they merely throw a small shaft of light across the mouth of the alleys, thus serving to make the darkness visible in the alleys? Villainy and crime flourish best in the dark.

Could the lamp posts have been so misplaced through pure stupidity or was it in the interest of crookedness?

POST-DISPATCH SERIES OF FAMOUS STORIES

A GLIMPSE AT DON QUIXOTE

The Adventure of the Fulling Mills

"IT cannot be, sir, but that this grass is a proof that there must be hard by some spring or brook to give it moisture, so it would be well done to move a little farther on, that we may find some place where we may quench this terrible thirst that plagues us, which beyond a doubt is more distressing than hunger."

The advice seemed good to Don Quixote, and, he leading Rocinante by the bridle and Sancho the ass by the halter, they advanced up the meadow feeling their way, for the darkness of the night made it impossible to see anything; but they had not gone 200 paces when a loud noise of water, as if falling from great high rocks, struck their ears. The sound cheered them greatly; but halting to make out by listening from what quarter it came they heard unseasonably another noise which spoiled the satisfaction the sound of the water gave them, especially for Sancho, who was by nature timid and faint-hearted; they heard, I say, strokes falling with measured beat, and a certain rattling of iron and chains that, together with the furious din of the water, would have struck terror into any heart but Don Quixote's. The night was, as has been said, dark, and they had happened to reach a spot in among some tall trees, whose leaves stirred by a gentle breeze made a low ominous sound; so that, what with the solitude, the place, the darkness, the noise of the water, and the rustling of the leaves, everything inspired awe and dread; more especially as they perceived that the strokes did not cease, nor the wind lull, nor morning approach; to all which might be added their ignorance as to where they were. But Don Quixote, supported by his intrepid heart, leaped on Rocinante, and bracing his buckler on his arm, brought his pike to the slope, and said "Friend Sancho, know that I by Heaven's will have been born in this our iron age to revive in it the age of gold, or the golden as it is called; I am he for whom perils, mighty achievements, and valiant deeds are reserved. Thou dost mark well, faithful and trusty squire, the gloom of this night, its strange silence, the dull confused murmur of those trees, the awful sound of that water in quest of which we came, that seems as though it were dashing itself down from the lofty mountains of the moon, and that incessant hammering that wounds and pains our ears; which things all together and each of itself are enough to instil fear, dread, and dismay into the breast of Mars himself, much more into one not used to hazards and adventures of the kind. Well, then, all this that I put before thee is but a stimulant to my spirit, making my heart burst in my bosom through eagerness to engage in this adventure, arduous as it promises to be; therefore tighten Rocinante's girths a little, and God be with thee; wait for me here three days and no more, and if in that time I come not back, thou canst return to our village, and thence, to do me a favor and a service, thou wilt go to El Toboso, where thou shalt say to my incomparable lady Dulcinea that her captive knight hath died in attempting things that might make him worthy of being called hers."

Sancho perceiving it his master's final resolve, and how little his tears, counsels, and entreaties prevailed with him, determined to have recourse to his own ingenuity and compel him if he could to wait till daylight; and so, while tightening the girths of the horse, he quietly and without being felt, tied both Rocinante's forelegs, so that when Don Quixote strove to go he was unable as the horse could only move by jumps. Seeing the success of his trick, Sancho Panza said, "See there, sir! Heaven, moved by my tears and prayers, has so ordered it that Rocinante cannot stir; and if you will be obstinate, and spur and strike him, you will only provoke fortune, and kick, as they say, against the pricks."

Don Quixote at this grew desperate, but the more he drove his heels into the horse, the less he stirred him; and not having any suspicion of the tying, he was fain to resign himself and wait till daybreak or until Rocinante could move, firmly persuaded that all this came of something other than Sancho's ingenuity. So he said to him, "As it is so, Sancho, and as Rocinante cannot move, I am content to wait till dawn smiles upon us, even though I weep while it delays its coming."

"There is no need to weep," answered Sancho, "for I will amuse your lordship by telling stories from this till daylight, unless indeed you like to dismount and lie down to sleep a little on the green grass after the fashion of knight-errant, so as to be fresher when day comes and the moment arrives for attempting this extraordinary adventure you are looking forward to."

"What art thou talking about dismounting or sleeping for?" said Don Quixote. "Am I, thinkest thou, one of those knights that take their rest in the presence of danger? Sleep thou who art born to sleep, or do as thou wilt, for I will act as I think most consistent with my character."

"Be not angry, master mine," replied Sancho, "I did not mean to say that;" and coming close to him he laid one hand on the pommel of the saddle and the other on the cantle, so that he held his master's left thigh in his embrace, not daring to separate a finger's length from him; so much afraid was he of the strokes which still resounded with a regular beat. Don Quixote bade him tell some story to amuse him as he had proposed, to which Sancho replied that he would if his dread of what he heard would let him; "Still," said he, "I will strive to tell a story which, if I can manage to relate it, and it escapes me not, is the best of stories, and let your worship give me your attention, for here I begin.

"I say then," continued Sancho, "that in a village of Estremadura there was a goat shepherd—that is to say, one who tended goats—which shepherd or goat-herd, as my story goes, was called Lope Ruiz, and this Lope Ruiz was in love with a shepherdess called Torralva, which shepherdess called Torralva was the daughter of a rich grazier, and this rich grazier"—

"If that is the way thou tellest thy tale, Sancho," said Don Quixote, "repeating twice all thou hast to say, thou will not have done these two days; go straight on with it, and tell it like a reasonable man, or else say nothing."

"Tales are always told in my country in the very way I am telling this," answered Sancho, "and I cannot tell it in any other nor is it right of your lordship to ask me to make new customs."

"Tell it as thou will," replied Don Quixote, "and as fate will have it that I cannot help listening to thee, go on."

"And so, lord of my soul," continued Sancho, "as I have said, this shepherd was in love with Torralva the shepherdess, who was a wild buxom lass.

"Then you knew her?" said Don Quixote.

"I did not know her," said Sancho, "but he who told me the story said it was so true and certain that when I told it to another I might safely declare and swear I had seen it all myself. And so in course of time, the love the shepherd bore the shepherdess turned into hatred and ill-will and so much did the shepherd hate her from that time forward that, in order to escape from her, he determined to quit the country and go where he should never set eyes on her again. Torralva, when she found herself spurned by Lope, was immediately smitten with love for him, though she had never loved him before."

"That is the natural way of women," said Don Quixote, "to scorn the one that loves them, and love the one that hates them; go on, Sancho."

"It came to pass," said Sancho, "that the shepherd carried out his intention, and driving his goats before him took his way across the plains of Estremadura to pass over into the kingdom of Portugal. Torralva, who knew of it, went after him, and on foot and barefoot followed him at a distance, with a pilgrim's staff in her hand and a scrip round her neck, in which she carried, it is said, a bit of looking glass, and a piece of a coin. But let her carry what she did, I am not going to trouble myself to prove it; all I say is, that the shepherd, they say, came with his flock to cross over the river of Guadiana, which was at that time swollen and almost overflowing its banks, and at the spot he came to there was neither ferry nor boat nor any one to carry him or his flock to the other side, at which he was much vexed, for he perceived that Torralva was approaching and would give him great annoyance with her tears and entreaties; however, he went looking about so closely that he discovered a fisherman who had alongside of him a boat so small that it could only hold one person and one goat; but for all that he spoke to him and agreed with him to carry himself and his 200 goats across. The fisherman got into the boat and carried one goat over; he came back and carried another over; he came back again, and again brought over another—let your lordship keep count of the goats the fisherman is taking across, for if one escapes the memory there will be an end of the story, and it will be impossible to tell another word of it. To proceed, I must tell you the landing place on the other side was miry and slippery, and the fisherman lost a great deal of time in going and coming; still he returned for another goat, and another, and another."

"Take it for granted he brought them all across," said Don Quixote, "and don't keep going and coming in this way, or thou will not make an end of bringing them over this twelve-month."

"How many have gone across so far?" said Sancho.

"How do I know?" replied Don Quixote.

"There it is," said Sancho, "what I told you, that you must keep a good count; well then, there is an end of the story for there is no going any farther."

"How can that be?" said Don Quixote; "is it so essential to the story to know to a nicety the goats that have crossed over, that if there be a mistake of one in the reckoning, thou canst not go on with it?"

"No, sir, not a bit," replied Sancho; "for when I asked your worship to tell me how many goats crossed, and you answered you did not know, at that very instant all I had to say passed away out of my memory, and faith there was much virtue in it, and entertainment."

"So, then," said Don Quixote, "the story has come to an end?"

"As much as my mother has," said Sancho.

"In truth," said Don Quixote, "thou hast told one of the rarest stories, tales, or histories, that any one in the world could have imagined, and such a way of telling it and ending it was never seen nor will be in a lifetime; though I expected nothing else from thy excellent understanding. But I do not wonder, for perhaps those ceaseless strokes may have confused thy wits."

"All that may be," replied Sancho, "but I know that as to my story, all that can be said is that it ends there where the mistake in the count of the passage of the goats begins."

"Let it end where it will, well and good," said Don Quixote, "and let us see if Rocinante can go;" and again he spurred him, and again Rocinante made jumps and remained where he was, so well tied was he.

With this and other talk of the same sort master and man passed the night, till Sancho, perceiving that daybreak was coming on apace, very cautiously untied Rocinante. As soon as Rocinante found himself free, though by nature he was not at all mettlesome, he seemed to feel lively and began pawing—for as to capering, begging his pardon, he knew not what it meant. Don Quixote, then, observing that Rocinante could move, took it as a good sign and a signal that he should attempt the dread adventure. By this time day had fully broken and every thing showed distinctly, and Don Quixote saw that he was among some tall trees, chestnuts, which cast a very deep shade, he perceived likewise that the sound of the strokes did not cease, but could not discover what caused it, and so without any further delay he let Rocinante feel the spur, and once more taking leave of Sancho, he told him to wait for him there three days at the most, as he had said before, and if he should not have returned by that time, he might feel sure it had been God's will that he should end his days in that perilous adventure. He again repeated the message and commission with which he was to go on his behalf to his lady Dulcinea, and said he was not to be uneasy as to the payment of his services, for before leaving home he had made his will, in which he would find himself fully recompensed in the matter of wages in due proportion to the time he had served; but if God delivered him safe, sound, and unhurt out of that danger, he might look upon the promised island as much more than certain. Sancho began weeping afresh on again hearing the affecting words of his good master, and resolved to stay with him until the final issue and end of the business. The feeling displayed touched the master somewhat, but not so much as to make him show any weakness; on the contrary, hiding what he felt as well as he could, he began to move towards that quarter whence the sound of the water and of the strokes seemed to come.

Sancho followed him on foot, leading by the halter, as his custom was, his ass, his constant comrade in prosperity or adversity; and advancing some distance through the shady chestnut trees they came upon a little meadow at the foot of some high rocks, down which a mighty rush of water flung itself. At the foot of the rocks were some rudely constructed houses looking more like ruins than houses, from among which came, they perceived, the din and clatter of blows, which still continued without intermission. Rocinante took fright at the noise of the water and of the blows, but quieting him Don Quixote advanced step by step towards the houses, commending himself with all his heart to his lady, imploring her support in that dread pass and enterprise, and on the commending himself to God, too, not to forget him. Sancho, who never quitted his side, stretched his neck as far as he could and peered between the legs of Rocinante to see if he could not discover what it was that caused him such apprehension. They went, it might be, a hundred paces farther, when on turning a corner the true cause, beyond the possibility of any mistake, of that dread-sounding and to them awe-inspiring noise that had kept them all the night in such fear and perplexity, appeared: and it was (if, reader, thou art not disgusted and disappointed) six fulling hammers which by their alternate strokes made all the din.

When Don Quixote perceived what it was he was struck dumb and rigid from head to foot. Sancho glanced at him and saw him with head bent down upon his breast in manifest mortification; and Don Quixote glanced at Sancho and saw him with his cheeks puffed out and his mouth full of laughter and evidently ready to explode with it, and in spite of his vexation he could not help laughing at the sight of him; and when Sancho saw his master begin he let go so heartily that he had to hold his sides with both hands to keep himself from bursting with laughter. Four times he stopped and as many times did his laughter break out afresh with the same violence as at first, whereat Don Quixote grew furious, above all when he heard him say mockingly, "Thou must know, friend Sancho that of Heaven's will I was born in this our iron age to revive in it the golden or age of gold; I am he for whom are reserved perils, mighty achievements, valiant deeds," and here he went on repeating all or most of the words that Don Quixote uttered the first time they heard the awful strokes.

Don Quixote, then, seeing that Sancho was turning him into ridicule, was so mortified and vexed that he lifted up his pike and smote him two such blows that if, instead of catching them on the shoulders, he had caught them on his head, there would have been no wages to pay, unless indeed to his heirs. Sancho seeing that he was getting an awkward return in earnest for his jest, and fearing his master might carry it still further, said to him very humbly, "calm yourself, sir, I am only joking; but I own I went a little too far with the joke. But tell me, your worship, (and may God bring you out of all the adventures that may befall you as safe and sound as he brought you out of this one), was it not a thing to laugh at, and is it not a good story, the great fear we were in?—at least that I was in; for as to your worship I see now that you neither know nor understand what either fear or dismay"—

SPORTS OF THE DAY

ST. L. U. AND HIGH

THOSE TWO ELEVENS WILL PLAY AT ATHLETIC PARK SATURDAY.

TALTY GRANTED INJUNCTION

Restrains the Park Owners From Renting to Any Other Eleven During the Football Season.

The St. Louis University and High School football elevens will play at Athletic Park Saturday afternoon as announced, but the Washington University team will not meet the State University Tigers at the Grand Avenue Park.

As previously printed in the Post-Dispatch both of the local teams have contracts with the park owners, and both have advertised their games to take place at the park on Saturday.

The St. Louis University Athletic Association, through its president, Francis X. Green, and its attorneys, John Denvir and Paul Dillon, presented a petition in the circuit court Friday morning praying for t temporary injunction to restrain the park owners from renting the grounds to any other football eleven or athletic association during the time specified in the lease held by the St. Louis University.

The case was assigned to Judge Talty in courtrom No. 7, and after much arguing on the part of the university attorneys and Attorney Powers, who represented the Athletic Park Association, the petition was granted. Mr. Powers claimed that the St. Louis University Athletic Association had forfeited the lease by reason of having not lived up to the contract. The judge decided in favor of the university men, however, but placed them under a $1000 bond, which, he said, would give the Athletic Park Association security for a future damage suit if the defendants thought they had grounds for same.

Manager Eilers of Washington University, who was present in the courtroom when Judge Talty announced his decision, stated to the Post-Dispatch that he would arrange to have the game between Washington and Missouri played at League Park.

CAPT. JOHNNY M'GRAW.

He Prefers National Association to Minor American League.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 26.—Ban Johnson of the American League and Mr. Somers of Cleveland were in Baltimore this evening to look over the field. They propose to place a club in this city if they can induce Robinson and McGraw to take an interest in the matter. He said he did not favor meddling with this territory unless Robbie and Mac took a hand. When asked if he was working against the National League Mr. Johnson returned an evasive answer. He and Somers left this evening without coming to a conclusion.

Robinson and McGraw said they would look into the matter before giving an answer.

"If," said McGraw, "we have to fight the National League, then the new organization is the best for us. It includes big cities like Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago."

While Johnson is really a minor leaguer, McGraw said he had given Johnson no encouragement, but expected to hear from him again after he reached Chicago.

Frank Richter of the new organization was also here to see McGraw today. He said his coming had nothing to do with Johnson's visit. He considered the latter an emissary of the old League sent out to keep Baltimore and Washington out of the new league, which Richter said was a sure go.

WITH THE COURSING MEN.

Draw for Sunday's Events Takes Place Friday Night.

The drawing for Sunday's coursing at Pastime Park will take place Friday night at De Hodiamont.

Sunday's program will consist of an all-age stake and a puppy stake, besides several match races.

The mating of Mr. Lavin's Firm Foe to Warburton should produce some grand racing stock.

Mr. Arthur Hynes has been very successful with his training so far this season, having won with Mellitus in the all-age, and Star of Erin in the puppy stake, and furnishing the runner-up in May Hempstead, also in the puppy event.

A good many celebrated greyhounds have recently been purchased by St. Louis lovers of coursing, and among the number are imp. May Herchel, imp. Menominee and imp. Swansee, who have been purchased by Mr. J. J. Curran. May Herchel will most likely run in next Sunday's stake.

FORTY MILES AN HOUR.

The Record Made by Will C. Stinson on a Bicycle.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BROCKTON, Mass., Oct. 26.—Forty miles an hour on a bicycle with regulation pace is at last an accomplished fact. Will C. Stinson, the crack middle-distance rider, turned the trick here, his exact record being 40 miles 330 yards. Near the first 12 miles he rode two seconds below a 40-mile gait. Then he began making them in 1:30 each, and gradually increasing his gait broke many records up to 28 miles. He dropped back to the 1:30 clip and finished up in good form. The best previous record was 39 miles 1453 yards, made here by Stinson last Saturday.

LELAND WIND INJURED.

St. Louisan at Princeton Ruptured Ligaments in Right Ankle.

Leland A. Wind, captain and fullback of the Princeton freshmen football team, ruptured two of the ligaments of his right ankle in practice last Friday. Wind will be remembered in St. Louis as the boy who played a great game at fullback for the High School eleven last season.

Wind, although laid up in the hospital, is not seriously injured, and is expected to take part in a game Saturday. Wind is playing an excellent game at fullback for the Nassau team, and should be a candidate for the 'Varsity eleven next year.

Baltimore Tournament Ends.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 26.—The annual tournament of the Baltimore Shooting Association closed Thursday, the final contest being a handicap at twenty live birds, $20 entrance, $50 added to high runs, six moneys. Smith, Martin and Postons divided first three moneys, while the other three went to Hallowell, Fanning and Welch. The scores follow:

Hallowell, 19; Fanning, 19; McMurchy, 17; Henry, 17; Mosher, 17; Hood, 17; Smith, 20; Pierce, 17; Hayward, withdrew; Martin, 20; Welch, 19; Postons, 20; Farley, 18; Zeitz, 16; Gilbert, 16; Paul, 17; Malone, 18; Krueger, 16; Dubray, 17, and Leroy, 18.

Association Football.

The opening games of association football will be played on next Sunday on the Christian Brothers' College grounds. The Shamrocks will be pitted against the rejuvenated Collegians and the Cycling Club will tackle the Globes. Interesting games may be expected, as the clubs are very evenly matched.

HIGH SCHOOL'S ELEVEN

IN SUPERB CONDITION FOR SATURDAY'S GAME.

TEVIS AND WEBER ARE STARS

Capt. North Moore's High School band went through its daily drill at Forest Park Thursday afternoon under the direction of Berneso. The work of the public school lads is by far the best of the local elevens in point of sustained effort. Darkness alone puts an end to their practice.

The most noticeable point in the playing of the individuals by the High School team is the work done by the tackles, Tevis and Weber. In their positions they are towers of strength on defensive and when their side has the ball they are safe ground gainers. Every play finds one or the other prominently concerned in it. Without these men High School would have a much inferior team.

The Grand Avenue eleven is also well fixed for ends, Berkley and Erskine being the best pair. The former is small, but is a football player in every sense of the word. His tackling is excellent and his ground gaining ability superb. He runs with his eyes open for holes and follows his interference. If he gains in weight he will do anywhere in a year or two. With Eddie Lewis of Smith Academy, he occupies first position of all the newly developed men of the local teams.

Erskine will be in Saturday's game with St. Louis University and will probably play his usual excellent game, though he is handicapped by some stiffness in his injured knee.

Foster, the heavy sub-center, will break into the game next Saturday, owing to Lamb's condition. "Fat" has the weight, but is woefully green. He is willing, however, and some football may be drilled into him. A tricky opponent could make a monkey of him at the present time.

Capt. Moore is an able leader of this able tribe. His position at quarterback is of especial advantage to the team. With his eyes open for the enemy's weak spot he can direct assaults without the inevitable confabs so tiresome to spectators, which become necessary when the leader is not calling signals.

St. Louis University most certainly will have its hands full when it lines up against Berneso's pupils.

The Marion-Sims College and the Carleton Football teams engaged in a few practice scrimmages Thursday night at the former's practice grounds. The dry goods men showed up poorly, owing partly to poor light and unfamiliarity with the grounds, and chiefly to the fact that they were entirely outclassed by the fast disciples of Esculapius.

The Carletons are a promising looking crowd with a plenitude of avoirdupois both in the line and behind it. Downton, one of the backs, has weight enough to do damage to any opposing line, and will be an effective man against the Hargadine-McKittrick boys in Saturday's game. But neither the efforts of Downton nor those of the rest of his team mates availed against Marion-Sims. The latter held them or gained through them absolutely at will.

Bailey showed up extremely well at halfback. He is fast and keeps his eyes open for holes. Bailey is probably a fixture at right halfback. Baker, his mate, carried the ball effectively, and on defense, like the good captain he is, watched the work of the eleven to observe the defects of his men. But these did not appear to any extent, for their opponents were hardly strong enough to make the "doctors" warm up.

Coach Pierce was out in football apparel, and apparently was well pleased with the showing of his proteges, as he smiled contentedly most of the evening.

Several of the Carletons were injured, Downton and Wilson among them, and the scrimmage practice was called off. Marion-Sims, however, continued their work, as a new signal code has to be mastered.

COL. JOYCE AT SEDALIA.

The St. Louis Surveyor to Build the New Race Track Up There.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SEDALIA, Oct. 26.—Col. J. G. Joyce of St. Louis, a race track expert, accompanied by C. E. Yeater and T. O. Stanley of the state fair board and the contractors, visited the state fair grounds this morning and inspected the race course.

Col. Joyce had been employed by the board to estimate the cost done by the contractors as it will be discontinued until next spring. This will be done as soon as his assistants arrive from St. Louis.

Besides this he will make some suggestions to the board in regard to the construction of the track.

The colonel has had a great amount of experience in this business, having superintended the building of a great number of famous tracks. He has just finished the Kinloch track in St. Louis, which is considered the fastest track in the United States.

Col. Joyce stated today that he thought that with some changes in the grade the race course here can be made one of the fastest in the United States. There are a number of minor points in the construction of a track which make a vast amount of difference in the speed that can be attained on it. The colonel is well acquainted with these details.

The suggestions he will make, if accepted by the board, he says, will lower the cost of the track materially. One of the suggestions will be that the first quarter have a rise of one foot per hundred feet while the home stretch falls at the same rate, thus sobering a horse on the start and giving him nothing to do but trot on the home stretch. It is after this principle that the Kinloch track was constructed, making it the fast track it is.

Barker-Jordan Match.

BOSTON, Oct. 26.—Half the Barker-Jordan checker match for the world's championship was finished Thursday night and the players are still on even terms, with one game each and 18 draws, both of today's games having been drawn. The move drawn for white for the day, 24—20, may precipitate several openings, but the "Ayrshire Lassie" continuation was preferred both in the afternoon and evening. The afternoon game drifted into lines similar to those in the "old fourteenth," leading to a critical game for both sides. Nothing untoward happened.

A far more interesting contest came off in the evening, the game being a pure "Ayrshire Lassie." The play continued on Lee's trunk game to the 12th move, inclusive of variation. The books give six moves and a draw, but at this stage Jordan played 1—5 instead of 15—19, prescribed in the text. The immediate subsequent play developed a pretty little trap for Barker, who, at that stage, thought it was an oversight on the part of the Scotchman. But the trap failed. The game then proceeded to a critical draw.

Shamrock in Dry Dock.

GLASGOW, Oct. 26.—Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht Shamrock was placed in dry dock at Greenock this morning, preparatory to being refitted for racing.

AT KINLOCH PARK

TALENT LOST HEAVILY BY FOLLOWING KATE MAE.

FRIDAY'S GOOD CARD OF RACING

Echo Dale, Belle of the Glen and Maydine Look Like the Best Things of the Day.

The lovely weather that has prevailed all week and the excellent cards of racing have brought immense crowds to Kinloch Park.

Thursday was no exception to the rule and the big crowd then in attendance had a battle royal with the bookies.

For the most part the speculators fared well, but in the third race they were routed by the pencilers, horse, foot and dragoons.

All the wise people had come out to play Katie Madden, a very pretty chestnut mare, who looked as though she had been trained for a horse show rather than for a bruising race. She was as fat as a pig.

At flag-fall she got off on even terms with the rest and she bore the advance guard company for a quarter of a mile.

Then the wise people looked for her to come away, but instead she fell back, and at the finish they set up a groan as cruel Katie came in away back in the ruck with the also ran. In this race Lydia S., a 60 to 1 shot, tipped by the Post-Dispatch, finished in advance of all.

Another good card is offered the local race going public for Friday afternoon.

There are only six carded in the first race, and the finish should see Echo Dale, Audenaide and Bedner heads apart.

In the second Belle of the Glen, Loka and Reefer look the best and they should finish as named in front of the rest.

In the third race Hi-Noc-Ker will again go to the post a favorite, and Mr. Lucas' friends will back him heavily to win. He figures to beat the field, with Bell Jackman and Water Crest next in order.

Censor, Poyntz and Varro look the best in the fourth, and Maydine, Four Leaf Clover and Horseshoe Tobacco should finish one, two, three in the fifth.

In the sixth Weideman, Tenden, Ella and Easter Card should beat the rest home.

I CURE BLOOD POISON

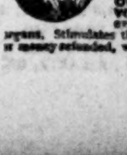

Doctor Cook.

On account of its frightful hideousness, Contagious Blood Poison is commonly called the king of all venereal diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted. Once the system is tainted with it, the disease may manifest itself in the form of scrofula, eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, eruptions or copper-colored spots on face or body, little ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, swollen tonsils, falling out of the hair or eyebrows, and finally a leprouslike decay of the flesh and bones. If you have any of these or similar symptoms you are invited to consult me immediately. If I find your fears unfounded, I will quickly unburden your mind. But if your constitution is infected with virus, I will frankly say so and tell you how to get rid of it. My special treatment for this disease is practically the result of my life work, and is indorsed by the best physicians of America and Europe. It contains no dangerous drugs or injurious medicines of any kind. It goes to the very bottom of the disease and forces out every particle of impurity. Soon every sign and symptom disappear completely and forever. The blood, the tissue, the flesh, the bones and the whole system are cleansed, purified and restored to perfect health and the patient prepared anew for the duties and pleasures of life.

I also cure to stay cured VARICOCELE, STRICTURE, NERVO-SEXUAL DEBILITY and all reflex complications and associate diseases and weaknesses of men. To these maladies alone I have earnestly devoted twenty-three of the best years of my life. Physicians having stubborn cases to treat are cordially invited to consult with me. I make no charge for private counsel, and give to each patient a legal contract in writing backed by abundant capital, to hold for my promise. Is it not worth your while to investigate a cure that has made life anew to multitudes of men?

If you cannot call at my office write me your symptoms fully. My home treatment by correspondence is always successful. Address all letters to

DESPERATE FIGHT WITH FILIPINOS

Lieut. Febiger and Four Men Were Killed.

NINE OTHERS WERE WOUNDED

FILIPINOS WERE INTRENCHED IN OVERWHELMING NUMBERS.

Had a Force of Over 1400 Men When Attacked by Detachments of Third Cavalry and Thirty-Third Infantry Near Narvican.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The war department today received a dispatch from Gen. MacArthur giving an account of a fight in which a small detachment of the American troops attacked a much superior force of Filipinos. The dispatch was as follows:

Manila, Oct. 26.—Oct. 24th First Lieutenant Febiger, forty men, Company H, Thirty-third Regiment, United States Infantry Volunteers, Second Lieutenant Grayson V. Heldt, sixty men, Troop L, Third Cavalry, attacked insurgents 14 miles east of Narvican, Ilocos province, Luzon; developed strong position occupied by about 400 riflemen, 1000 bolomen under command of Juan Villamor, subordinate of Timos. Desperate fight ensued which was most credible to force engaged, though under heavy pressure overwhelming numbers, our troops compelled to return Narvican, which was accomplished in tactical, orderly manner.

Acting Assistant Surgeon Bath and civilian teamster captured early in the fight were released by Villamor. According to their accounts insurgents much stronger than reported herein and their loss, moderate estimate, over 150.

Our loss, killed: First-Lieutenant George L. Febiger, Charles A. Lindenberg, William F. Wilson, Company H, Thirty-third Regiment, United States Volunteer Infantry; Andrew T. Johnson, farrier; Guy E. McClintock, Troop L, Third Regiment, United States Cavalry.

Wounded, Company H, Thirty-third Volunter Infantry—Floyd W. McPherson, hip, slight; John W. Grace, face, slight; Floyd H. Heard, cheek, slight; Harry S. Johnson, knee, serious; Troop K, Third United States Cavalry, Corporal Adam R. Wachs, arm, slight; Alfred Downer, lip, head, slight; Charles W. Martin, thigh, slight; Oscar O. Bradford, foot slight; William E. Henderleg, below knee, slight.

Missing—Company H, Thirty-third Regiment, John J. Boyd, Samuel P. Harris; Troop L, Third Cavalry, Samuel Davis, Ferd Sched. Twenty-nine horses missing, some know killed. "MACARTHUR."

FEATURES OF THE HORSE SHOW

Manager Gentry Arranging for Splendid Music, Polo Pony Exhibit and the Matinees.

Manager John R. Gentry, Bert Walker, Lacy Crawford and several other directors of the St. Louis Horse Show Association, visited the Coliseum Friday morning and arranged for the exact location for Weil's band of 50 pieces, which will furnish music during the horse show.

This will be the largest local band ever heard at the Coliseum, and every effort will be made to have the musical program as strong a feature as the artistic merit of the show, and as a social function.

The band will be located directly in the center of the north side of the Coliseum, thus giving a better opportunity for hearing the music than could be otherwise gained by any other location in the Coliseum.

The leading feature of the show this year will be the representation of polo ponies by members of the Country Club. This organization has a membership of 300 of St. Louis' most prominent young business men and social favorites.

Among those who will take part in the competition in the Polo Pony classes will be: Bert Walker, E. C. Simmons, Jr., G. P. Doan, C. W. Scudder, Phil Scammon, I. Z. Smith, A. T. Primm, J. T. Drew, J. L. Bowen, W. D. Simmons, D. D. Walker, Jr., James Scudder and Walter Taylor. Mr. Bert Walker, who is one of the most expert polo players in the West, and who took a prominent part in the recent games with the Chicago Polo Club, has been active in getting together this list of entries.

It is announced the management will use every endeavor this year to have the performances over by 11 p. m. promptly, a fact which will be a source of convenience and comfort to out-of-town visitors to the show, especially, and also enabling visitors from Chicago to take the 11:30 train from St. Louis to that point, as a great many people will come from that city to see the St. Louis show.

There will be two matinees during the week, Wednesday and Saturday. The Wednesday matinee is always a source of pleasure and amusement to the ladies and children, and the little folks this year will have a very edifying entertainment in the exhibition of Prof. William Altherr's string of Shetland ponies. These ponies will be in competition in the show ring and at the New York Horse Show they formed one of its most fascinating features.

Great local interest is taken in the runabout class in the Kansas City show, the competition in which will be decided Friday night. R. Park von Wedelstaedt's unbeaten McL. will meet George Pepper's famous runabout, South Africa. Pepper's horse has been remarkably successful and is regarded as one of the finest runabout horses ever bred.

SCHLEY NOT AN EQUESTRIAN

While He Will Go to Louisville Next August He Positively Refuses to Parade on Horseback.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 26.—Rear Admiral W. S. Schley, U. S. N., has settled forever the fact that his equestrian ability is confined exclusively to "riding a wave." Admiral Schley has accepted the invitations of the Knights of Templar of Kentucky to attend the 28th triennial conclave in Louisville, Aug. 27—30, 1901. His answer under date of Sept. 14 was written on the United States flagship Chicago, at the South Atlantic station, Montevideo, Uruguay, and was received tonight. The invitation contained a request that he take part in the Templar parade as a member of the mounted staff.

While agreeing to come to Louisville, he declined to ride a horse, saying he doesn't believe it will be possible for him to "keep the saddle on board one for 10 minutes, even if the animal was as gentle as a camel."

Twenty private homes will be open to entertain Admiral Schley, and he will be assigned to one of these or to a leading hotel, as he may prefer.

SUIT WAS THROWN OUT.

St. Louis Firm Not Incorporated in Illinois and Cannot Sue There.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MATTOON, Ill., Oct. 26.—The suit of the Christopher & Simpson Architectural Co. of St. Louis against Contractors Goehring and Fuller, who built the Coles County Courthouse has been dismissed. The company furnished the interior iron work and sued for $330. Judge Dunn held that the company was not incorporated to do business in this state and therefore not qualified to maintain suit under the Illinois statutes. The case will probably go to the Federal Court, as a number of similar claims are involved.

HOW BALLOTS WILL BE CAST

What the Law Requires the Voters to Do.

POLLS OPEN FROM 6 TO 7

DETAILED INFORMATION FOR ALL CITIZENS.

Progress of the Campaign in St. Louis Which Is Growing Warmer as Election Day Approaches.

HOW TO VOTE.

When you enter the booth, tear off your ticket, Democratic, Republican, Socialist Labor, Prohibition, People's Party or Social Democratic.

Vote on the seven constitutional amendments by marking out the word "No" and the sentence preceding, if you wish to vote "Yes," and by marking out the word "Yes" and the sentence preceding if you wish to vote "No." The World's Fair amendments are Nos. 4 and 5.

If you wish to vote against any man on the ticket, draw a line through his name and write on the line below the name of the man for whom you wish to vote for that office. If you scratch a name without writing another name beneath, the man whom you scratch will get one less vote, but no other candidate for that office will get your vote.

If you cannot read and write, it is the business of the judges and clerks of election to prepare your ballot for you as you desire it.

Fold your ballot so that its face will not be exposed. Fold the five unused ballots in the same manner. Hand your ballot and the unused ballots to the judges.

The polls open at 6 o'clock in the morning and close at 7 o'clock in the afternoon.

Voting will be a simple matter in St. Louis at the coming election.

Instead of the cumbersome blanket ballot of four years ago, the voter will be furnished a ballot like that used at the election of 1898. This ballot will consist of six tickets printed on separate slips of paper, stapled together at the top, with a perforation below the stapling.

All that the voter has to do is to tear off the ticket which he wishes to vote, mark the constitutional amendments to show his preference upon them, scratch the name of any candidate on the ticket for whom he does not wish to vote, and write in the name of the candidate for whom he desires to vote for the same office. If a voter scratches a name, but does not write another name beneath, the candidate who is scratched will lose one vote, and no other candidate will get the vote.

The order in which the six tickets are placed upon the stapled and perforated ballot is the following: Democratic, Republican, Socialist Labor, Prohibition, People's Party, Social Democratic.

The order in which the names of candidates and titles of constitutional amendments comes upon each ballot is the following:

Presidential electors, at large and by districts; governor, state officials, judges of the supreme court and judge of the St. Louis court of appeals; seven constitutional amendments, including the World's Fair amendments, numbers 4 and 5; representatives in Congress; state senator; state representatives; judges of the circuit court, sheriff of the city of St. Louis, circuit attorney, assistant circuit attorney, coroner and public administrator.

After preparing his ballot, the voter must fold it so that its face will not be exposed, and fold the bunch of unused tickets in the same manner. After handing both to the judges, he may leave the polling place.

The greatest precautions are being taken by the election commissioners to keep a single one of the official ballots from coming into the hands of outside parties. The closest watch is kept on the printers who are printing them and on the persons who trim them, arrange them in order and stable them. For any employe of a printing office to take one would be a penitentiary offense. Not even the election commissioners are allowed to retain a single ballot. Every one must be given to the judges and clerks of election, who are in turn prohibited under stringent penalties from giving a ballot to any unauthorized person.

There is reason in all this precaution. Any outside person with an official ballot in his possession could make sure of the votes of as many men as he could bribe to vote in a certain manner. He could mark the ticket in his possession as he desired to have it voted and give it to the first man, who would vote it and bring away with him the ballot which the judges had given him. This ballot could be prepared in the same manner and given to a second man, who would vote it and bring out another untouched ballot. Thus an endless chain would be kept up as long as the man on the outside could find voters to assist him.

In an estimate made by a Democrat on the vote for governor of Missouri the plurality of Mr. Dockery, the Democratic candidate, is placed at 29,500. In making up this estimate this forecaster takes the state by congressional districts and it is significant that he concedes the three St. Louis districts to the Republicans.

His forecast shows the following pluralities on governor in the 15 congressional districts:

Democratic districts—First, 4000; Second, 5000; Third, 3000; Fourth, 2500; Fifth, 2500; Sixth, 3000; Seventh, 4500; Eighth, 2,00; Ninth, 2500; Thirteenth, 2500; Fourteenth, 3000; Fifteenth, 3000. Total, 39,500.

Republican districts—Tenth, 6000; Eleventh, 2000; Twelfth, 1500. Total, 10,000.

Net Democratic plurality, 29,500.

Democrats, of course, regard this estimate as conservative in the extreme, while Republicans will quarrel with several features of it. The latter do not concede the Fifth, Fourth and Fifteenth districts, and they claim that Democratic pluralities will be reduced in several other districts.

The fault found with the estimate by most Democrats is that it gives Flory St. Louis by 10,000. They say this is too much, and many of them claim that the Twelfth district is safely Democratic this year.

At Twelfth and Olive streets Friday night the Jefferson Club stereopticon, which is operated by James L. Post, will give an open air exhibition.

The pictures will be thrown from the west side of Twelfth street to a screen on a tall building opposite. Among the pictures that will be used are the moon cartoons of Mayor Zeigenhein, taken from the Post-Dispatch.

The stereopticon was used at the meeting of the Jefferson Club Thursday night and was a distinct success.

Using it in the open air is an inovation, and is expected to draw a big crowd.

Among the laws enacted by the last legislature affecting the right of suffrage is one which, if enforced, will disfranchise a great many men who have heretofore enjoyed the privilege of casting ballots.

It is the law which disfranchises all persons who have been convicted of larceny in any degree. More attention has been paid to the enforcement of the law in the country than in the cities. In one county 40 negroes have been disfranchised because they had been convicted of stealing chickens.

The existence of the law is not generally known, but political managers have instructed their lieutenants all over the state to watch closely at the polls for persons who come under this ban.

In most counties the criminal records have been gone over and lists of the persons convicted made. These lists will be furnished to election judges, as a guide at the polls.

"At Norborne, Carroll County, yesterday, I saw something I never saw before," said Morton Jourdan. "I saw big, strong, bearded Germans cry at a political meeting. The man who made them shed tears was Webster Davis, and his subject was the Boer war. It was the most remarkable manifestation of emotion I ever saw. All over the big audience, wherever a German sat, there was a man shedding tears. There was no attempt at concealment. Men sobbed as the speaker pictured to them the sufferings and martyrdom of the brave Dutch farmers in South Africa."

Mr. Jourdan presided at the three meetings at Norborne, Thursday, at which Alex M. Dockery, candidate for governor, and Webster Davis were the speakers.

Two other meetings were held at Carrollton Thursday, and were addressed by the same men. Mr. Jourdan and Russell Kneisley of Carroll County declare that the outpouring to the meetings was enormous.

At the Jefferson Club noonday meeting in the Carleton building Friday, O. T. Hamlin and E. A. Barbour of Springfield and M. D. Lewis of St. Louis were the speakers.

At the meeting Thursday, James R. Waddill, Frank Green and Walter Jones were the speakers.

CANCER

Sufferers from this horrible malady nearly always inherit it—not necessarily from the parents, but may be from some remote ancestor, for Cancer often runs through several generations. This deadly poison may lay dormant in the blood for years, or until you reach middle life, then the first little sore or ulcer makes its appearance—or a swollen gland in the breast, or some other part of the body, gives the first warning.

To cure Cancer thoroughly and permanently all the poisonous virus must be eliminated from the blood—every vestage of it driven out. This S. S. S. does, and is the only medicine that can reach deep-seated, obstinate blood troubles like this. When all the poison has been forced out of the system the Cancer heals, and the disease never returns.

Cancer begins often in a small way, as the following letter from Mrs. Shirer shows:

A small pimple came on my jaw about an inch below the ear on the left side of my face. It gave me no pain or inconvenience, and I should have forgotten about it had it not begun to inflame and itch; it would bleed a little, then scab over, but would not heal. This continued for some time, when my jaw began to swell, becoming very painful. The Cancer began to eat and spread, until it was as large as a half dollar, when I heard of S. S. S. and determined to give it a fair trial, and it was remarkable what a wonderful effect it had from the very beginning; the sore began to heal and after taking a few bottles disappeared entirely. This was two years ago; there are still no signs of the Cancer, and my general health continues good.—MRS. R. SHIRER, La Plata, Mo.

SSS is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and the only one guaranteed purely vegetable. Send for our free book on Cancer, containing valuable and interesting information about this disease, and write our physicians about your case. We make no charge for medical advice.

THE COUNT WAS FOILED

COUNTESS MACHANEY TRIED TO EMBARK FOR EUROPE.

THE COUNT SECRETLY ABOARD

When He Appeared She Signalled for a Tug, Climbed a Rope Ladder and Returned to Shore.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Displeased with her marriage, celebrated but three months ago, the Countess Cecile Machaney, brunette and beautiful, attempted yesterday to escape from her husband, the count, by embarking on the Kaiser Friederich for Europe in a secret manner.

The count had not been asleep, however, and no sooner had the steamer started from her dock than he appeared on deck from the cabin, where he had been in hiding, wearing the baleful smile of bitter triumph that is so familiar on the face of the stage villain.

The countess first essayed to faint, but reconsidering her decision she ran to the ship's side and signalled to her friends on shore, who were still waving their adieus to her. She wanted to leave the ship, and her intention was made so clear to the friends on shore that they at once secured a tug and sent it after the big steamer.

When it arrived alongside, the countess gave to the count the usual "Aha, villain, you are foiled!" look and rather ungracefully, but gladly, proceeded to climb down the black sides of the Kaiser Friederich on a frail looking rope ladder. She reached the tug in safety and went back to her friends. The count continued on toward Europe.

The countess, who was Miss Cecile A. Phelps of Richmond, Va., and whose first husband was Count Kiernannas, is 25 years old and a brunette of the dashing order. The marriage of the couple was celebrated on June 28 last, in Hackensack. Justice of the Peace Cummings performed the ceremony. The bride gave her address as Trenton. The groom said he resided in New York and his age was 26. They had come to Hackensack, they said, to give their marriage a romantic tinge.

MISS RIVES STRICKEN.

Criticism of Her Last Book Brings on Nervous Prostration.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Hallie Erminie Rives, sister of Amelie Rives, has been stricken with nervous prostration, as a result of the adverse criticism of her last book. She will be taken to a sanitarium.

OIL TRUST STOCK $605 A SHARE.

A Year Ago It Sold at 466 and Not Long Before That 200 Was Thought a Big Price for It.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Standard Oil stock yesterday sold at the unprecedented price of $605 a share. This is the highest quotation for any industrial corporation's stock in this country. A year ago yesterday it sold at 466, and has risen from 475 since the first of this year. It is not so very long ago that holders of the stock sold it at 200, and thought they were then getting a big price for it.

Wednesday Standard Oil sold at 591. It opened with an advance to 595 yesterday, and finally a single share was offered and bought in at 605. This event is a sort of epoch-marking one in the history of the company and also in financial matters in Wall street.

The Standard Oil Co. is capitalized at $100,000,000, and this year will pay in dividends more than half the amount of its outstanding securities. The company has already paid 38 per cent dividends this year, and in November, when the next dividend becomes due, it is expected that a 12 per cent dividend will be declared, making a 50 per cent dividend for the year. It is not improbable that even a larger dividend than 12 per cent may be declared.

"MOONSHINE" OLEOMARGARINE

Albert T. Dow, Who Evaded $25,000 in Taxes, Unconsciously Betrayed by His Brother.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Through an unconscious betrayal by his brother, Albert T. Dow, proprietor of the alleged illicit oleomargarine factory which recently was raided by United States internal revenue officers, was arrested and placed under bonds to appear before Commissioner Mark Foote today.

A warrant was issued for A. T. Dow, but it was discovered that he was in Boston. Before the police in that city could be notified Dow had left for Chicago. On arrival in this city Dow made an appointment with his brother, Nathan. The latter had been shadowed by officers ever since the raid and when the brothers met the arrest occurred.

Collector of Internal Revenue Coyne has secured a writ of attachment on the funds of the oleomargarine company, said to be on deposit in three banks. The internal revenue taxes on the oleomargarine alleged to have been evaded from Feb. 1, 1896, to Oct. 15, 1900, amount, it is said, to $25,000.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON

THEODORE MILEN, M. D.

Blood Poison is, in its mildest form, a wretched and disgraceful disease, one which is always to be dreaded. If neglected or improperly treated and the virus is allowed to enter the system and the disease thus to become, as it is termed, constitutional, it becomes a most loathsome and filthy disease, undermining the constitution, destroying the general health and sapping the very foundation of life, rendering the sufferer a mere wreck in both body and mind, disgusting to himself and shunned by all around him. It is not sufficient in order to eradicate the disease from the system that the primary ulcer at the time of infection should merely be healed. A thorough constitutional treatment is necessary from the beginning, otherwise the disease develops later on in what are termed the secondary and tertiary stages. These stages are manifest by a variety of symptoms, such as aches in various parts of the body, particularly in the knees and lower limbs. The hair and eyebrows fall out, pimples appear in the scalp, copper-colored spots on various parts of the body and mucous patches in the mouth.

Doctor Milen's treatment for blood poison in all its stages is absolutely the most perfect, thorough and effective ever discovered. He stakes his professional reputation upon its unfailing success and he guarantees a positive and speedy cure in every case. By his system of treatment every vestige of the poison is thoroughly eradicated from the system, never to return.

Dr. Milen, the master specialist in diseases of men, also treats with equal success LOST MANHOOD, STRICTURE, VARICOCELE, PROSTATIC TROUBLES and ALL CURABLE DISEASES of the MALE SEXUAL SYSTEM. His system of treatment for all diseases, and the medicines used, are all original with him and cannot be obtained elsewhere. In every case he undertakes he will give a legal and binding contract in writing to cure. ALL MEDICINE FREE. Office hours: Daily, 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. Evenings, 6:30 to 8 o'clock. Sundays, 10 a. m. to 12 noon.

HOME TREATMENT BY MAIL.

A personal visit to the office is always to be preferred, but for those who live out of the city and are unable to call, Doctor Milen has developed a system of home treatment by mail that is entirely his own. Write him candidly concerning your troubles and he will give you his opinion by return mail, free of charge.

30 DAYS FREE

Marvelous Nerve Force Imparted by a New and Startling Discovery—Every Weak, Nervous, or Enfeebled Man Should Give It a Test.

Will Be Sent Free on Thirty Days' Trial So All May Experience the Wonderful Sensation of Restored Vigor—Without Cost.

A well known professor has made the fortunate discovery that what has heretofore been known as impotency or lost manhood is due to paralysis of the nerves. As it requires a vigorous condition of the nerves to control the muscles, the professor has found a wonderful power that instantly awakens the nerves and thus restores complete muscular strength. He says:—The marvelous power exerted by recent additions and improvements to my electric belt and appliances induces me to send it on 30 days free trial, so certain am I that it will cure and that the wearer will gladly pay the small price asked after the 30 days trial.

To men who have bettered their stomachs with drugs I want them to exercise their judgment and consider that electricity is the greatest power on earth. Its unseen current puts life and force into whatever it reaches. The constant, steady life extended by my new Electric Appliances gives instant relief and never fails to cure Rheumatism, Backache, Kidney Troubles, Early Decay, Night Losses, Lack of Nerve Force, and Vigor, Nervous Debility, Undevelopment and Lost Vitality. You may not have faith in it now, but wear it for 30 days and you will then realize why I have such confidence in it as to send it to you on trial.

GIVES STRENGTH AND VIGOR

PROF. A. CHRYSTAL.

Do not fail to write at once to Prof. A. Chrystal, 1618 Postoffice Block, Marshall, Mich., as he is anxious to have every man wear his new and marvelous belt and suspensory for 30 days and try it fully before spending a cent for it. Remember after giving the belt a trial if you are not perfectly satisfied return it to us, it costs you nothing to try it.

BEST NEWS FROM THE LABOR FIELD.

CHIEF OF A LABOR UNION THAT NEVER HAD A STRIKE

John T. Wilson of St. Louis is chief of a national labor organization which has never participated in a strike.

At the age of 29 he became grand chief of the Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen, established in this city in October, 1891, and every succeeding term he has been re-elected to the position without opposition.

JOHN T. WILSON, Grand Chief of the Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen.

Mr. Wilson was born Jan. 29, 1862, in McMinn County, Tenn. He was reared on a farm and began work as a section hand on the East Tennessee, Virginia & Georgia Railway in his 17th year. The next year he was promoted to a foremanship. He filled various positions in the maintenance-of-way department until the brotherhood was organized, when he became its head.

When the order was organized, the wages of trackmen were being reduced continually and almost sytematically. Since that time there has been no reduction in wages, and the increases secured on different railroads amount to more than $1,000,000 a year.

The order has contributed many thousands of dollars for the support of disabled members and to help widows and orphans of members.

Mr. Wilson says that, so far as he knows, his organization has never caused any man to lose his situation.

Last summer Mr. Wilson was chairman of the citizens' committee which sought to induce the transit company to submit to arbitration its dispute with the striking street car men.

For several years the offices of the Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen have been at 2212 Olive street, but they are being removed to rooms 306-2 Benoist Building, Ninth and Pine streets.

MACHINISTS' STATUS

NEW REGULATIONS INTERESTING TO THE TRADE.

ONE GOVERNS APPRENTICES

Another Definitely Defines the Qualifications and Duties of Machinists and Authority of Employers.

Several new and important features of especial interest to the men employed in the machinist trade have been embodied in the revised regulations of the International Machinists . One of these is calculated to prevent reduction in the wage scale and keep two men from hunting for one job. It was the one that was most bitterly contested at the late joint meeting with the National Metal Trades Association. It refers to apprentices and reads:

"There may be one apprentice for the shop, and in addition not more than one to every five machinists."

It is understood that in shops where the ratio is more than the above no charge shall take place until the ratio has reduced itself to the proper number by lapse or by the expiration of existing contracts.

Another decision is one that has long been a question of discussion between employe and employer. It defines the duty of a machinist as follows:

"A machinist is classified as a competent general workman, competent floor hand, lathe hand, shaper, vise hand, planer, milling machine hand, slotting machine hand, die-sinker, boring mill hand, tool hand and linotype hand. A competent hand in either class shall be able to take any piece of work pertaining to his class, with the drawings or blue prints, and successfully complete the work within a reasonable time. He shall also have served a regular apprenticeship or have worked at the trade four years.

"It is understood that the question of competency is to be determined by the employers. Since the employers are responsible for the work turned out by their workmen, they shall therefore have full discretion to designate the men they consider competent to perform the work and to determine the conditions under which it shall be prosecuted. This last paragraph does not in any way abridge or destroy the right of appeal from any apparent or alleged unjust decision rendered by an employer of labor or his representative, in conformity with the powers invested in him by this paragraph."

INSPECTING FACTORIES.

Otto Ehrhardt of Garment Workers' Union Reports Favorably.

Acting under instructions from the national organization Business Agent Otto Ehrhardt of the Garment Workers' Union of St. Louis is inspecting St. Louis clothing workshops to ascertain whether they are keeping up to the union orders with reference to sanitation and other features obligatory under the regulation of the unions.

So far, Mr. Ehrhardt says, he has found general good conditions prevailing. The growth of unionism among the workmen and workwomen has had much to do with keeping good sanitary conditions in the factories and doing away with the sweatshops.

CURES SYPHILIS.

A Trial Treatment Sent Free to All Who Suffer From Any Stage of the Disease.

Cures Cases That Hot Springs and All Other Treatments Failed to Even Help.

There has been discovered by the State Medical Institute, 199 Elektron Bldg., Fort Wayne, Ind., the most remarkable Syphilis cure ever heard of. It has cured all such indications as mucous patches in the mouth, sore throat, copper colored spots, chancres, ulcerations on the body and in hundreds of cases where the hair and eyebrows had fallen out and the whole skin was a mass of boils, pimples and ulcers this wonderful specific has completely changed the whole body into a clean, perfect condition of physical health. Every railroad running into Fort Wayne brings scores of sufferers seeking this new and marvelous cure, and to enable those who cannot travel to realize what a truly marvelous work the Institute is accomplishing, they will send free to every sufferer a free trial treatment, so that every one can cure themselves in the privacy of their own home. This is the only known cure for syphilis. Do not hesitate to write at once and the free trial will be sent sealed in plain package.

LATEST NEWS ABOUT LABOR

A committee of the Metal Trades Council and Central Trades and Labor Union is jointly working to have an appropriation set aside to pay for a special factory inspector for St. Louis.

The Women's Division of the Union Label League are arranging to give a euchre party early this month.

The salary of Grand Master Sargent of the Union of Railway Firemen has been increased from $3500 to $5000 a year. The union now has 25,000 members.

In the spring the Trades and Labor Assembly of Iowa will erect a $60,000 temple at Des Moines, where there are 40 unions.

Vice-President Chas. Speck of the Cigarmakers' International Union is back from Dayton, O., where he concluded a settlement of the trouble between the journeymen and their employers.

The members of Amalgamated Woodworkers' Union No. 2 will celebrate the fifth anniversary of their union with a ball and reception at Dodier Hall, Twentieth and Dodier street, Nov. 3.

Every bottling establishment in the city will be unionized by the first of November. The organizers are pushing the work.

The annual ball of the Journeymen Plumbers will be given at Liederkranz Hall, Easton and Vandeventer avenues, Nov. 28.

The Cigarmakers' International Union now has 35,500 members and is growing rapidly.

The Metal Trades Council has moved into its new quarters at 1310 Franklin avenue. The interior arrangement of the hall has been remodeled and the members of the council now have a business and private office, general meeting hall and reading room.

Labor unions in Illinois are propagating the fact that the trusts have wiped out Grant City, in that state, by the removal from there of an electric plant to Fort Wayne, Ind. The plant was operated by 857 men and paid $14,500 weekly for help. It was absorbed by the Central Electric Co.

At a recent meeting of the United Confectioners, held in Chicago, it was decided to wage an aggressive war against candy venders and small dealers who violate the pure food laws. The newly-elected officers of the association are: President, John H. Wiles, Kansas City; vice-president, A. B. Mewaimmey, Terre Haute, Ind.

The order of Railway Telegraphers is collecting a monument fund for Mortimer D. Shaw, who died recently in St. Louis. Deceased was a resident of St. Louis and was prominent at one time in local labor affairs, as well as in newspaperdom. He was one of the executive board of the Brotherhood of Telegraphers of America in 1883.

The employes of the St. Louis Car Co. will have a ball and reception Saturday night, Nov. 3, at the North St. Louis Turner Hall, Twentieth and Salisbury streets.

The United Leather Workers will have a ball and reception Saturday night, Nov. 3, at Bohemian Gymnasium, Ninth and Allen avenue.

The St. Louis Team Owners' Association will have its annual reception and ball Nov. 17 at the West St. Louis Turner Hall.

The members of Union No. 67 of Pants' Makers' and Union No. 3 or Shirtmakers' lately joined issues by consolidation. As both trades are much alike and the union rules similar it was thought that amalgamation would be profitable to both sides.

R. F. Sass, Jr., business manager of the Saturday Union Record, the official journal of the St. Louis Trades Union Label League, has returned from a trip through Tennessee.

Saturday evening, Nov. 3, Union No. 30, United Brotherhood of Leather Workers, will have its second annual reception and reunion at the Bohemian Gymnasium Hall, Ninth and Allen avenue. An excellent program has been arranged for the event.

John Murtaugh, local business manager of the Iron Molders' Union No. 59, has sent out notices warning union men against a strike that is on in Cleveland in the Iron molding trade.

The Iron Molders' Union has postponed action until next March in reference to making a demand for an increased wage scale. The foundrymen employing molders claim inability to manke any advance in pay just now on account of slack trade.

The Hardwood Fnishers' Union will have a ball and reception Oct. 27.

At its last meeting the Overall Makers' Union took in 50 candidates, all girls, from a Lucas avenue factory.

Henry Blac[illegible]more, president of the Carpenters' Dist[illegible]t Council, has returned from New York.

TRI-CITIES' COUNCIL

CENTRAL TRADES ORGANIZATION ACROSS THE RIVER.

GRANITE, MADISON AND VENICE

Combination of All the Unions on the Illinois Side Has Been at Last Accomplished.

The various trades represented in Granite City, Madison and Venice, Illinois suburban towns, have organized what is known as the Tri-City Central Trades Council.

The new council holds its meetings at Forcade's Hall, in Granite City. The following named unions are represented in the new body:

Stationary Engineers' Union, No. 106; Carpenters' Union, No. 633; Decorators' and Paperhangers' of America; Tin Workers' Union, No. 16, A. A. of I. S.; Bartenders' Union, No. 120; Granite City Lodge, No. 11, A. A. of I. and S. Workers.

These officers were elected for the ensuing term of six months: E. Dare, president; D. M. Miller, vice-president; W. H. Clark, secretary; J. C. Britton, treasurer, and H. Schuler, sergeant-at-arms.

This completes one of the strongest central labor bodies in the near-by towns to St. Louis. It unites thoroughly all of the trades in three little cities and assures general action in case of any labor disturbance that may develope in either one of the trades belonging to the union.

AN ACTIVE UNION WORKER

E. M. Bannister, Member of the Executive Committee of Central Trades and Labor Union.

Mr. E. M. Bannister was for years the secretary of the Central Trades and Labor Union of St. Louis, a body of mechanics and laborers representing 65,000 people. At present he is associated with the executive committee of this organization.

E. M. BANNISTER.

Mr. Bannister has organized many subordinate unions in St. Louis, and been instrumental in adjusting many labor troubles within the past few years. He is a champion of the union label, and has been very successful in getting it recognized by various manufacturing trades in St. Louis and elsewhere.

PRACTICE ECONOMY

ST. LOUIS UNIONS HUSBAND THEIR RESOURCES.

EXTRAVAGANCE FROWNED UPON

Unions Are Well Housed and Have Money Ready for Emergencies in Which Funds Are Needed.

At its recent meeting the Central Trades and Labor Union took into affiliation with its membership three newly organized unions, the Fresco Painters, Insurance Agents and Retail Grocers' Clerks. This adds about 400 new members to the C. T. & L. U., and increases the number of its delegates about 12 and the number of unions to 132. David Kreyling, the secretary-organizer of the Central Trades and Labor Union, is doing energetic work in the field and now has in course of formation several more unions.

The operating expenses of the combined labor organizations of St. Louis is a matter of which no very late official computation has been made, although a conservative estimate places the aggregate close around $100,000 a year. The central divisions like the Building Trades Council and the Central Trades and Labor Union have no spendthrifts among their officers. Every action in which finance figures is based on economy. These two central bodies get along during the year with not more than $1800 each. But when the various subordinate bodies belonging to one or the other of them is considered it is quite a different thing. In considering the subordinate unions, hall rent, dues, relief assessments, officers' pay, however small, and other expenditures of an incidental character have to be added. As to the expense of conducting the affairs of a subordinate union there is a vast difference.

The little union usually gets its rent as cheap as convenient, while the already established union doesn't figure on the saving of a few dollars from necessity. But taken altogether, St. Louis unions are nicely housed, have ready money to take care of ordinary events, and are always equal to any emergency from a financial point of view.

TELEGRAPHERS' NEW CHIEF

President M. M. Dolphin Announces He Will Establish His Headquarters in St. Louis.

M. M. Dolphin of Kansas City, the new chief executive officer of the order of Railway Telegraphers, will make St. Louis his headquarters. He does not, it is said, contemplate any change in his force of assistants.

Mr. Dolphin is now in the East adjusting some affairs connected with the welfare of the organization.

THREE SHOE FACTORIES STOP.

Shut Down Due to Trouble with Union Workmen Over Piece Work.

QUEBEC, Oct. 26.—Three shoe factories, employing 1000 men, have shut down as the result of difficulties between the union and the manufacturers. The trouble grew out of the refusal of a union man to work for weekly wages instead of piece work. He was discharged and a non-union man engaged. As a result, all the men in the factory went out. The manufacturers' committee thereupon decided to shut down until a better understanding is obtained.

Mrs. Field's Entertainment.—Mrs. Katherine S. Field will entertain a number of friends at her home, 5345 Vernon avenue, Friday evening, with a dramatic and musical program. Mrs. Field will give a dramatic reading from "Paolo and Francesca." Wallace Niedringhaus will sing and Frederick Witte will render violin selections.

TRUST THEIR FOE

TOBACCO WORKERS' UNION MUST FIGHT FOR EXISTENCE.

THE UNION HAS PROSPERED

It Has 1500 Members in St. Louis and Is Equally Divided Between Men and Women.

An important body of workwomen and workmen is the Tobacco Workers' International Union. This organization is about 1500 strong in St. Louis, and its membership is nearly equally divided between men and women, both of whom have a voice in its government.

Probably more than any like institution in the country it has, and will have, to continue for a long time, to do battle with the Tobacco Trust. The tobacco workers' principal weapon is, of course, its union label, although like all labor organizations it has other methods of dealing with its opponents.

The union was established on its present basis about five years ago, although prior to that time it existed in a few individual unions which were scattered over different parts of the country, and had no general controlling body, but had affiliation with the American Federation of Labor.

The international body was organized by seven unions in St. Louis and one in Wheeling, W. Va. Locally it has been successful in getting a wage scale established and has altogether obtained 20 per cent advance in wages during the five years.

The unions in St. Louis and what is known as the local advisory board have their own autonomy, a constitutional right so long as it does not conflict with the national association. The advisory board is made up of representatives from the local union on much the same order as delegates going to the Central Trades and Labor Union, with which the tobacco workers have affiliation. Charles Sweeny is the local secretary-treasurer and at the same time fills the duty of organizer, which in other words means to look after the affairs of the local unions in the matter of wages and other matters concerning their welfare.

The present union wage scale runs this way: Twist workers, $2.50 to $3.50 a day; wrappers off, $16 a week; feeders, $10 a week; pressmen, $12 a week; stemmers, $7 a week. The trust factories pay all the way from 10 to 15 per cent less than the established union scale. As for example, stemmers are paid only $5 a week in the trust factories. It may be said that in some departments of the local trust factories 75 per cent of the workers are now associated in the membership of the local unions.

"Our branch of work in the South is an extensive field," said Secretary-Treasurer Sweeny to the Post-Dispatch, "and we are making the best possible use of it. The trust is the great stumbling block that we have to contend with down there. A number of the trust people are moving their factories to the South on account of the cheapness of labor. The condition of labor in the South, and more particularly in the trust tobacco factories, is deplorably sad. In the first place, the trusts are the foe of the workers. But that is not all that labor has to fight. There is the contract system that flourishes. The contract system in this instance means that one man undertakes to do certain work in a factory and lets it out to maybe six or eight hands. To these he pays what he feels like. The men cannot get into the factories except through the contract system. Indeed, let me say to the Post-Dispatch that today there are children who cannot call their own names that are the servants of the giant Tobacco Trust. Organization is the only remedy we know with which to fight the evil, and the unions are growing through the South."

The tobacco workers now have about 7000 members, an increase of 800 in the year past. At the recent convention these officers were elected in the national body: Henry Fischer, St. Louis, president; F. McAndrews, Cincinnati, first vice-president; Daniel Wallace, Detroit, second vice-president; John S. White, St. Louis, third vice-president; W. R. Walden, Richmond, Va., fourth vice-president; Edward Dittmore, Wheeling, W. Va., fifth vice-president; E. Louis Evans, Louisville, secretary-treasurer. The next international convention will be held in this city the last week in September, 1902.

While there is nothing in the governmental rules which prohibits politics in the organization there is an unwritten law which dictates that no action as a body be taken in political matters. This law is, as a rule, closely observed, except in grave cases, such as a candidate on either ticket who has given offense by hostility to this or some other labor body.

KATIE HELDMAN LEFT HOME.

Her Relatives Cannot Explain the Girl's Absence.

Katie Heldman, aged 15, has been missing from her home, 3313 Florissant avenue, since Thursday morning, and her unexplained absence was reported Friday by her mother and brother to Secretary Fred Ziegenhein of the mayor's office. Mr. Ziegenhein referred his visitors to police headquarters.

Mrs. Herman says that her daughter left home about 7 o'clock Thursday morning without saying where she intended to go or leaving any note or other message. She cannot explain the cause of the girl's absence, as she says that she was apparently contented with her home life.

How do you feel when you pay $5 or $6 for a pair of shoes and in a week or month discover that at a "marked down" sale the same shoes are being sold at $3.50? You naturally feel that your money has been taken from you without any equivalent, for shoes that can be sold for $3.50 at one time can be sold at $3.50 all the time.

How do you feel when induced to go into a store by seeing shoes advertised at $3.50 to find a salesman, who is paid for doing so, bent upon selling you shoes which cost considerably more?

Why not avoid all these disagreeable things and buy Regal Shoes—shoes that are equal to the best that are made at any price—and shoes that are sold direct from the tannery to the consumer at $3.50 every day and every year? You will find 151 styles and 121 sizes including everything from the latest correct patent leather shoes, now worn in New York and London, to the old-fashioned plain, or capped-toed shoes designed for comfort and ease.

One trial of Regal Shoes will make you a permanent Regal wearer.

The Regal | ST. LOUIS, 618 Olive Street.

Delivered, carriage charges prepaid, to any address in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Germany upon receipt of $3.75 per pair. Also to any point within the limit of the Parcels Postal Service.

BUSINESS MEN INDICTED.

Three East Side Citizens Charged With Embezzlement.

Washington Williams, Dwight Williams and Richard Wheeler were arrested Thursday afternoon on a capias from the St. Clair County grandjury charging them with embezzlement.

The three are commission merchants in the East St. Louis stockyards and prominently identified with the buyers at that place.

The indictment was returned at the last session of the grandjury. The amount involved is said to be only $160. The trouble is said to have grown out of a shipment of stock from a dealer in Southern Illinois.

Alexander Flannigan acted as bondsman in the sum of $500 for each defendant.

EARLY MARKET QUIET

LATER WHEAT FUTURES SHOWED RAPID DECLINES.

FUTURES LACKED SUPPORT

Weak Cables Started the Decline and Realizing Helped This Along in Spite of Crop News.

Longs unloaded heavily at the close of today's session, causing a decline of ⅞c in the Dec. future and ⅝@⅞c for May.

There was no trading in either corn or oats today. A few offer prices were recorded, but the quotations were mostly nominal figures.

It was rumored that 80 to 100 loads of wheat had been engaged for export at New York, but it lacked confirmation.

Traders bought wheat in small lots at the opening of today's markets, then this demand fell off, and later longs began to unload heavily. Scalpers controlled the early market, and kept the range for all futures in narrow limits.

A comparatively weak opening abroad was responsible for a quiet market on this side during the early session. Later declines abroad caused weakness, traders getting rid of some of their long stuff.

Liverpool opened ⅜d up for wheat and closed only ⅛d up for the day. The opening was not a good response to the strength in American markets yesterday, and the final weakness had, therefore, some influence over the local trade.

Locally Dec. opened at 71⅜c to 71½c, and after selling up to 71½c the market slumped, the future selling down to 70⅞@71c, and for some time hanging around 71c.

May opened at 76c, and in short order worked down to 75¼c.

Continued bad weather reports from Argentine, together with news of the depredations of the Hessian fly in the fields of Ohio, Indiana, Missouri and Illinois would generally have a decidedly bullish affect upon the market, that they did not cause advances was mostly because the bull element is thoroughly scared. Longs got hit very hard on the big slump in wheat values and they are now disposed to let the firm grain alone.

Reports from Roumania say: With regard to wheat it is asserted that if rains come soon the moisture will be in time to give the crop a fair start.

Austria and Hungary report: In the district of the Upper Danube the weather has continued dry and unseasonably hot, causing further hindrance to fall plowing.

Around 11:30 the Dec. future sold down to 70¾c and May to 75¼c.

Paris closed 1c up for the day. Antwerp closed unchanged.

Receipts of wheat at St. Louis today were 47,696 bu, compared with 25,031 bu same date last year. Of these 1287 sks and 54 cars were local, compared with 2125 sks and 24 cars same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth today were 563 cars, as compared with 643 cars same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at primary points today were 900,270 bu, compared with 944,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments, 310,765 bu, compared with 586,000 bu same date last year.

Argentine shipments for the week are estimated at 400,000 bu, as compared with 280,000 bu last week.

MODERN MILLER OUTLOOK.

Increasing reports of fly in the wheat are being received, with some statements of actual damage from Missouri, Indiana and Illinois. Otherwise conditions are seasonable. Seeding still going on in many sections. A fair trade in flour is reported by winter wheat mills.

Oats Market a Dull Affair.

The oats market was even a duller affair than the corn trade, as not a price of any kind was recorded for this cereal until the session was old.

Receipts of oats at St. Louis today were 38,400 bu, compared with 49,000 bu same date last year. Of these 27 cars were local, compared with 290 sacks and 34 cars same date last year.

Little Interest in Corn Market.

The pit today showed little interest in the corn market, and in the early part of the session neither sales or bid prices were recorded and only a few offered prices.

Oct. was offered at 36¼c and later at 36⅛c; Dec. at 34¼c and May at 35¼c.

Argentine corn shipments for the week are estimated at 576,000 bu, compared with 308,000 bu last week.

Receipts of corn at St. Louis today were 69,935 bu, compared with 33,875 bu same date last year. Of these 1734 sacks and 51 cars were local, compared with 750 sacks and 27 cars same date last year.

Receipts of corn at primary points today were 441,619 bu, as compared with 538,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments, 477,473 bu, compared with 580,000 bu same date last year.

Cotton Opened Unchanged.

In the cotton market today neither bulls or bears had much the advantage and at the opening very little change from last night was noted.

The futures opened unchanged to 1 point up, following the lead of Liverpool, but there was not enough in the general situation to cause important changes and after the initial fluctuations the market became very dull and narrow.

At Liverpool near positions opened 2 to 3 points up, while the remote months were 2 to 4 up.

At New York Jan. opened unchanged, March 1 up and Oct., Nov. and Dec. each 1 up.

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

The attendance of buyers from southern points was lighter this week, and naturally the market was on a lower basis, especially owing to very liberal supplies of the kind that were available. Values were lower, the average decline being about $5 to $7.50, though some sales of common kinds at intervals were perhaps a shade more. For three weeks past the buying for the South has been good and increasing, and it appears that shipments were heavier than the outlet, thereby giving some points a crowded condition of supplies. In consequence of this condition some of the biggest markets bought much lighter.

Increased receipts so far this week amount to 1600 cattle, 1400 hogs and 1000 horses and mules. Sheep receipts decreased 800 head. This by comparison with the corresponding four days a year ago.

Wednesday's official receipts at the National yards were 4562 cattle, 7381 hogs, 1387 sheep and 707 horses and mules.

The horse trade, like other branches of business, may be expected to show fluctuating and uncertain tendencies from now until political issues are settled next month. A presidential year generally has a quieting effect upon trade, and this year is no exception.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Wheat started quiet and firm with the crowd inclined to even up over the Saturday holiday and Sunday. Cables were firm, Liverpool showing a good response to the advance here yesterday. Dec. opened ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower at 73½c to 73¼c, and sold down to 73c, where the market steadied. The weather was generally favorable and receipts moderate. Argentine shipments were 400,000 bu, compared with 280,000 bu the week previous and 1,070,000 bu a year ago. Local receipts were 142 cars, 9 of which graded contract. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 563 cars, against 657 last week and 643 a year ago.

Later sentiment seemed to have reversed, yesterday's buyers selling. Dec. dropped to 72½c, but steadied on a good export demand, closing ⅞c lower at 72½c. Liverpool did not hold the early advance.

The corn market was quiet and easy early, with a fair volume of trade. Dec. opened unchanged to ⅛c lower at 35⅛@35c, and sold down to 34⅞c, where the market steadied. Cables were indifferent, the weather favorable and receipts liberal, 329 cars. Country offerings were freer.

The close was easy, Dec. ⅛@¼c down at 34⅞@35c.

Oats were quiet, the trade light and featureless. The tone was quiet, sentiment being equally divided. Receipts, 145 cars, 25 under the estimate. Dec. opened a shade lower at 21⅞@22c, and sold to 22c.

Provisions opened higher on fewer hogs than had been expected, and in sympathy with higher prices at the yards. On profit-taking by the crowd the early advance was lost. Jan. pork opened 5@7½c higher at $11.22½@11.25, and sold down to $11.15; Jan. lard opened 5c higher at $6.67½ and declined to $6.60; Jan. ribs opened 7½c higher at $5.97½ and declined to $5.92½.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The stock market opened feverishly active and very irregular. The assertions of Vanderbilt control in Southern Pacific made that stock the feature and the 10,000 shares which changed hands at the opening were quoted at 37⅞ and 37½, compared with 37⅛ last night. The Chicago & Alton stocks and the Kansas City Southern stocks were affected by reports of consolidation. Alton opened wide on a sale of 3500 shares at 34 to 34½, compared with 33⅞ last night. Kansas City Southern preferred was up 1⅛. Brooklyn Transit jumped 1⅝. Some of the coalers showed acute depression on realizing incident to the strike settlement. New Jersey Central was off a point and others of the group lost large fractions.

Large amounts of Brooklyn Transit were unloaded and prices receded to about yesterday's close. Sugar and Pacific Mail were forced down a point, and these incidents caused the general market to run off. Some resistance was met in the Pacifics. Business in Southern Pacific was only moderate, after the enormous opening business and the price was about steady. The Chicago & Alton stocks showed gains of 1⅛@1½ for the common and preferred, and the Kansas City Southern stocks rose further in sympathy.

A lively selling movement developed in the second hour, which had its inception in the Steel stocks. Their weakness soon diffused a heavy tone to the Pacifics, coalers, Tobacco and tractions. Losses averaged about a point in these properties, but some issues lost almost 2 points. Great activity marked the movement. Lake Erie & Western preferred broke 4½. A sharp rise toward midday in some of the specialties checked the reaction, but the market was feverish. Lake Shore was bid up 3 points over yesterday's close without obtaining stock. Bonds were quiet and irregular.

NEGRO FOUND HUMAN BONES

Vernal Williams Was Arrested When He Showed His Grewsome Find to the Police.

Human bones were found in a vacant lot in the rear of 1809 Chestnut street Friday morning by Vernal Williams, a young negro, who was locked up at the Four Courts police station awaiting an investigation of the grewsome find.

The bones are those of a matured female. They consist of the top of a skull, which appears to have been sawed from the lower portion of the head, the structure of the arms and legs. The trunk vertebrae and ribs are missing.

Williams told Officer Robertson that the bones were packed in a pasteboard box.

The bones were removed to the morgue, where they will be held until the police are satisfied that no crime has been committed. Capt. Reynolds is disposed to believe that the bones were thrown away by some medical student.

BATH OR SUICIDE?

Otto Gingal Arrested for Jumping in the River.

Otto Gingal of 160 Benton street is a man with a funny grievance. He says he was arrested for taking a bath. The police disagree with him and say that they believe he attempted to commit suicide.

Gingal says he needed a bath Thursday night, and he ought to know. He got it all right, but not in the Mississippi river. Thursday night he went down to the levee and jumped off terra firma into aqua more or less pura. The police fished him out.

"I only wanted to take a bath," said Gingal.

"O, no, you did't, you wanted to commit suicide," said the blue coats in chorus. "Come along with us to the City Hospital. You'll get a bath there."

And he did.

LAST STREET CLEANING.

Friday Night the West End Gets Its Final Sweeping.

The final cleaning of the paved streets of the residence districts of the city will occur Friday night, when the sweeping machines will make their last trip, over Locust, Pine, Chestnut, Morgan and Wash streets, Grand avenue, West Olive street and the other brick and asphalt streets of the West End.

From that time until Nov. 1, when the sweeping machines go out of commission for an indefinite time to come, their work will be confined to the dowtown granite streets.

"ZOO" KEEPER IS DEAD.

Charles Angermeyer, Who Cared for Wild Animals at Forest Park.

Charles Angermeyer, keeper of the Forest Park zoo, died Thursday evening at his home in the "Lodge," Forest Park, after an illness of two weeks.

Mr. Angermeyer had been connected with the park department for nearly 20 years, and had for five years past been keeper of the zoo at Forest Park, living in the old police station which serves as the keeper's home. He was 56 years old, and leaves a widow and family.

Crawford's wish to place in the homes of the good people of St. Louis 100 daily of the far-famed Steel Majestic cooking ranges, without an equal in this wide, wide world. They say they won't rest until they do it! This house has for long been considered as a public benefactor, and in putting in large numbers of these great prerequisites to solid comfort, contentment and happiness, they might better be entitled to a public monument than many who now have one!! Just think of it, a small payment down and 10C A DAY until paid!! TEN CENTS A DAY, just the price of a very poor ten minutes' smoke. Won't you deny yourself such a miserable luxury for the sake of the comfort of yourself, wife and children? Of course you will. Be a man and not a mouse, and do it at once!! Crawford's can put up in good shape 100 ranges a day. Try them, and at once!! No interest charged. Factory prices.

"BOSTON TEA PARTY A MOB"

Teachings of a Chicago University Professor.

STATEMENT TO HISTORY CLASS

REVOLUTIONARY HEROES ARE CLASSED AS LAWLESS.

Dr. Shepardson Thinks the Idea of Popular Sovereignty Is at the Bottom of Mob Violence.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—It has remained for a professor of the University of Chicago to call the patriots who threw the tea overboard in Boston harbor "the first American mob."

Dr. Shepardson told a class in history at the university that the men of Mansfield, O., who gave Dowie elders a coat of blue paint were the inheritors of "the American spirit of lawlessness" first notably manifested at the "Boston tea party." Dr. Shepardson was conducting his class in American history, in which he makes a strong point of the effect of early events on conditions found in present-day life.

Dr. Shepardson told his class that in the study of the history of the country he wished them to take note of "American lawlessness." As evidences of present-day lawlessness he mentioned the treatment of Dowie's elders by the Manfield mob, frequent lynching and a telephone war in an Ohio town. Then he said:

"You will note in your study that his American lawlessness is a remnant of the revolution. The Boston tea party was an act of mob violence. Mind, I'm not saying that this was not an important event in hastening our independence, but it was an act of mob violence, in which the mob destroyed private property. This is what you will find on careful study to be a fact about the men in Boston who have been called 'the glorious fathers of the revolution.'

"Another reason for mob violence is the idea that the people are sovereign; therefore, if 1000 of us, the people, get together and lynch a man, why, the act comes from the sovereigns.

"Another reason for these things about which men are ashamed when not excited is the easy-going methods of life, our idea, 'Oh, well, that will take care of itself.'"

MAILS TO ALL THE WORLD

Closing Time for Letters Destined to Points Outside the United States.

The accompanying table shows the closing time for letters and other mail sent from St. Louis to any part of the world outside of the United States.

Failure to post on schedule time causes a delay of from one day to several weeks.

It will be noticed that mails directed to the Philippine Islands should reach the postoffice by Oct. 31 or Nov. 1.

As it requires about 40 days for mail to reach the Philippines there will be but a small margin of time to send Christmas presents to the soldier boys after Nov. 1.

CAPTAIN WAS ANGRY

SOMEBODY FORGED CAPT. GILLASPIE'S NAME.

AN OLD NEGRO FRIGHTENED

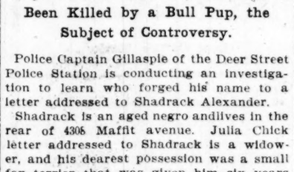

Body of a Fox Terrier, Which Had Been Killed by a Bull Pup, the Subject of Controversy.

Police Captain Gillasple of the Deer Street Police Station is conducting an investigation to learn who forged his name to a letter addressed to Shadrack Alexander.

Shadrack is an aged negro andlives in the rear of 4306 Maffit avenue. Julia Chick letter addressed to Shadrack is a widower, and his dearest possession was a small fox terrier that was given him six years ago by a white man for whom he worked. Julia, who is also colored, owned a bull pup, who was a fighter par excellence. The bull pup and the Scotch terrier mixed up, and the fox terrier was so badly punished that he crawled under the house and died.

"I felt powerful bad about my dog being killed, captain," said the aged Shadrack. "That dog was a powerful good dog about killing rats. Why, sir, he would run up a straight brick wall after a rat. And he would get him, too. Well, Julia she came to me and said I must get that dog out from under the place and bury him. Well, I am an old man, and have been troubled with the rheumatics, and I just couldn't crawl under that house and get that dog out. Then she came and brought me this letter, which she said was from you. I just came around to see what I could do."

The letter was signed "Captain Gliespey," and stated that unless Shadrack removed the dog he would be dealt with according to the law. Capt. Gillasple told the old negro that he did not write the letter, and if he could find out who did write the letter he would make it warm for the writer. The captain told the old negro to return to his home. He said the dead animal wagon would call for the dog and for him not to worry.

Don't worry overmuch about those sharp pains in your head. Seek their cause in your liver.

CAMPAIGN FOR PROHIBITION

New Organization Perfected for the Municipal Elections and the Contest of 1904.

The Prohibitionists of St. Louis closed the series of campaign meetings at Union Reform headquarters on North Twelfth street Thursday evening and adjourned for the final semi-political meeting at the Fourth Baptist Church, Thirteenth street and Sullivan avenue, next Thursday evening, when the principal address will be made by Rev. Mr. Magill.

Prior to adjournment the St. Louis Prohibition Club was organized for preliminary work for the campaign of 1904 and the following officers selected:

President, Rev. Dr. H. W. Gardner, pastor of the Lee Avenue Presbyterian Church; vice-president, Andrew Grassley; secretary, Milnor Richmond; treasurer, Dr. R. R. Vaughn; executive committee, Joseph E. Pace, Rev. Dr. Gardner, Dr. Vaughn and Messrs. Richmond and Grassley.

The enrollment in the new organization is said to be quite large.

The club accepted an invitation to attend a temperance mass meeting to be held at the People's Central Church, North Eleventh street, near Franklin avenue, on Sunday, Nov. 4 next, when Rev. Dr. W. B. Palmore, editor of the St. Louis Christian Advocate, will speak on the topic "The Overwhelming Issue."

"Our people are not only enlisting for the campaign of 1904 at this early date," said Mr. Pace of the executive committee, "but we propose to take a hand in the municipal campaign next spring and to co-operate with all societies for raising the standard of morals in the permanent conduct of local and general affairs."

DEATH OF COL. A. G. ANDERSON.

He Was on Gen. Cockrell's Staff During the War.

Col. A. G. Anderson, for the past 20 years traveling salesman for the Jacob S. Merrell Drug Co., died at his residence, 731 Aubert avenue, Friday morning at 5 o'clock.

Col. Anderson was a merchant at Nevada, Mo., until the beginning of the war, when he enlisted in the Confederate army and served throughout the entire conflict. In the closing years of the war he was on Gen. Frank M. Cockrill's staff and was chief of the commissary department and supplied the western armies of the Confederacy with provisions.

Col. Anderson leaves a widow and seven children. His oldest son, John Anderson, is in business in New Orleans.

The funeral will be held at Mount Cabanne Christian Church, King's highway and Morgan street, at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon and will be conducted by Rev. D. R. Dungan, president of Canton University. Several of his old army comrades will act as pall bearers.

Workingmen's Bryan Club. — A Democratic mass meeting will be held at Gravois avenue and Arsenal street Saturday night, under the auspices of the Workingmen's Bryan Club. The meeting will be addressed by Nicholas M. Bell, W. N. Miller, C. J. Nordmeyer, Dr. J. C. Chalmers and Dr. Carr.
